Five Directorships for 2-Year Terms at Stake

The civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association will perform one of its most important annual functions Monday night when it selects nominees for the five expiring directorships on the association's governing board.

The meeting, under the gavel of committee chairman Harry Fledderman, will be held at 8 p.m. in the Orinda School. Each of the five directorships at stake are for two-year terms on the board.

Improvement groups and other members of the civic affairs committee are now meeting in an attempt to develop the best possible candidates for the offices.

FLEDDERMAN said the meeting will also include an important speaker—Duane Mattison, county park director. Mattison will discuss present plans for parks and recreational development in the area.

FLEDDERMAN said the meeting will also include an important speaker — Duane Mattison, county park director. Mattison will discuss present plans for parks and recreational development in the area.

In particular, these areas include the proposed Briones Park and various reservoirs of the East Bay Municipal Utility District, Fledderman reported.

Two candidates for each director's post must appear on the ballot, which will be mailed November 27, according to Vic Kingston, association president. Current dues of $2 per family can be mailed to the association until November 21 for families to obtain a vote in the election.

The new directors take office January 1, he stated.

KINGSTON urged persons who have an interest in shaping the future of Orinda to volunteer, through their local improvement or homeowners' group, to serve as a director.

"Many great and challenging problems will confront Orinda in the next few years," he said. "A rapid transit system, incorporation, further commercial development on both sides of the crossroads and creation of recreational facilities in the area are only a few of the major issues."

Directors representing the following zones of the association have expiring terms in the coming election:

Connie Hall — Oak Springs, Encinas de Moraga, Moraga Estates, Orinda Highlands and the remaining area west of Moraga Highway and north of Monte Veda Drive.

KINGSTON — Tara Brook, Moraga Highlands, Broadview Tract, Orinda Hills, Moraga Meadows, Moraga Gardens and the area east of Moraga Highway and north of Glorietta Boulevard except Moraga Estates and Moraga Manor.

Philip Mittell — Moraga Park, Moraga Glorietta, Sally - Ann Meadows, Rheem Highlands, Moraga Manor, Rheem View Acres, Moraga Midlands and the remaining area south of Glorietta Boulevard, east of Moraga Highway and north to Hall Drive.

Les Hink, Jr., — Haciendas del Orinda, Orinda Estates, Orinda Court, Orinda Villa Park (east of Orinda Highway).

Dave Saenger — Moraga Knolls, Moraga Woodlands, Lost Valley and Lincoln Estates.

A KISS of joy is planted on the cheek of Joe Dame, president of the LaMorinda Thunderbirds, by Miramonte freshman Sue Brown, the Thunderbirds' Miss Football of 1960. Sue was crowned Sunday during gala halftime ceremonies of the LaMorindans' homecoming game with the Contra Costa Pioneers. Neither strong winds nor a powerful Pioneer team, which defeated the local club, 32-7, could dampen the spirits of the thousand persons who crowded Miramonte's stadium for the game. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Few Tickets Remaining For Olympic Testimonial

The communities of Lafayette and Orinda will pay tribute Tuesday night to three young people who are living proof that there is plenty of good left in American youth.

A gala testimonial dinner at the Red Mill will honor Carolyn Schuler and George Harrison of Orinda and Donna deVarona of Lafayette, all of whom were members of the U.S. Olympic swimming team which competed in Rome during the summer games.

A FEW TICKETS are still available for the event, which will begin at 7 p.m. with a social hour. The dinner will be served at 8 p.m. The entire evening is under the joint sponsorship of the Lafayette and Orinda chambers of commerce and The Sun.

The young trio became the largest group of residents from any single high school district in the country on the American team, and in that way, brought credit to their communities.

Many of the Olympic stars who competed in Rome bore the same home town because of their affiliation with certain sports groups, such as the Santa Clara Youth Village, but most of these athletes had official residences elsewhere.

NOT SO WITH Misses Schuler and deVarona and young Harrison. Carolyn moved to Sleepy Hollow when she was about five years old and attended Orinda schools throughout her educational career. She was graduated from Miramonte in June.

Donna, who celebrated her 13th birthday last spring, has lived in Lafayette for about six years and is president of the Stanley School student body. She will attend Acalanes High School next year.

And George, a 21-year-old pre-med student at Stanford University and two-time Olympic swimmer, is a native of Orinda. He attended Orinda grade schools and was graduated from Acalanes before Miramonte was opened.

THE ROAD TO ROME for the three local residents was a rough one, but all three feel now that the pride they felt during the competition made it all worthwhile.

Miss Schuler became the dark horse of the American women's swim team, and in so doing brought home to Orinda two of the 33 gold medals won by the American team.

She developed about three years ago into a top-notch butterfly swimmer, but decided last spring to quit competition after the Bartlettsville, Okla., AAU finals to devote her full time to studying so she could be graduated with her class.

NOTHING WAS HEARD of Carolyn for several months, but all the time she continued her strenuous workouts in the Schuler pool, and when she went to Detroit for the Olympic finals she placed second.

In Rome, her confidence was restored, and Miss Schuler broke the world's record in finishing first in the qualifying heat and the next day romped home with the coveted gold medal.

LITTLE DONNA, WHO weighs about 100 pounds dripping wet, has worked herself hard during the last three years and did quite well as a leading member of the Berkeley YMCA team.

During the Nationals at Indianapolis in July, Donna reached her peak as she defeated the heralded Sylvia Ruuska in setting a world's record in the 400-meter individual medley, a non-Olympic event. The record still stands.

She went on to qualify for the freestyle relay team in the Olympics and swam in a qualifying heat.

Tickets may be obtained from merchants throughout Lafayette and Orinda or by calling the chambers of commerce at AT 4-7404 or CL 4-4141, or at The Sun, AT 4-4444.

Meeting on Parks Is Possibility

Attempts are being made by some county officials to schedule a meeting between supervisors and park commissioners of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and East Bay Municipal Utility District representatives, The Sun learned this week.

Purpose of the meeting would be to establish some sort of master plan for the use of surplus EBMUD land for parks and recreation areas in the two counties.

THE IDEA FOR such a meeting came as the result of meetings of the Contra Costa County Supervisors' committee for the proposed realignment of Bear Creek Road. The committee was formed last month by Chairman Mel Nielsen of the board of supervisors, and includes citizens from most communities in the county.

The committee, headed by James Moriarity of Orinda, has been meeting each Thursday evening in Martinez to study the proposed realignment of Bear Creek Road along the southern edge of the proposed Briones Reserevoir.

Engineers have recommended the southern route to the county on the basis that the road would be used as an access thoroughfare to and from the Briones County Park, when and if it is developed.

THE COUNTY HAS already spent $210,000 in purchasing sections of the proposed park area from EBMUD, but some county residents feel that EBMUD has more valuable surplus land in the area which would make better park and recreation property.

THE CITIZENS group was formed after two subcommittees of the district board recommended the recreational use of the reservoir areas, particularly at the Chabot, Lafayette and Briones reservoirs.

According to Robert Kahn of Lafayette, a member of the Bear Creek committee, and Duane Mattison, county park director, now is the time for long-range plans to be made on the matter of parks for Contra Costa and Alameda counties.

In the next several weeks, The Sun will present a factual study of all sides of the county park problem. The series, which will include pictures, will begin next week.

Del Rey Parents Will Have Picnic

The Del Rey Parents Club will hold its first meeting of the 1960-61 season on Sunday at 1 p.m.

In lieu of a formal program, there will be a "get-acquainted" picnic held at the school playground. All families of Del Rey pupils are cordially invited to attend.

Beverages and dessert will be furnished by the Parents Club. Each attending family will supply its own lunch. Competitive games will follow with prizes for winners.

Moyal Is Promoted In Army Reserves

Moyal is statewide fiscal officer for the University of California Extension.

High School's Parents Plan Meeting Monday

Does your student need, expect, or participate in extracurricular activities

The afternoon group of the Parents' Club of Miramonte High School which has as its theme for the school year, "Balanced Living, Body, Mind, and Spirit" will have a presentation of extracurricular activities at its meeting on Monday at 12:45 p.m. in the faculty dining room adjoining the cafeteria.

Some of those participating will be Mrs. Charles Eaton, presenting the science seminar Mrs. Robert Boles, presenting recreational activities, Mrs. Avram Yedidia, presenting school clubs; and Mrs. Angus McLeod, presenting social clubs, such as those sponsored by the several philanthropy groups in Orinda.

Future meetings will include as speakers Dr. Drummond McCunn, president of Diablo Valley College; Dr. Arthur Roth, director of the Teen-Age Clinic for Permanente Medical Group; Dr. Charlotte Gill, psychologist; and Robert Mitchell, football player associated with "Young Life."

Class in Basic Design To Start

Persons interested in a class in basic design to be given by the Orinda Art Center may call Mrs. Ralph Hickcox, CL 4-5402. The Sun last week printed the incorrect telephone number.

Six New Members Taken Into Science Seminar

Six new members were welcomed into the Miramonte Science Seminar last week at a special meeting which featured Dr. Hardin Jones as lecturer.

Dr. Jones, who spoke on certain aspects of world health, is assistant director of Donnor Laboratory at the University of California, associate director of the Institute of Human Development and professor of medical physics and phsiology.

STUDENTS were chosen on the basis of high scores earned on the qualifying examination given to over fifty students. The new members include three girls, Nancy McKee, Karen Olson and Jill Taylor; and three boys, Steve Cantrill, Mike Dauphinee and Ed Graham.

They will meet each week with scientists in the community to learn about the many fields of science through lectures, and to work on projects in their fields of special interest.

The Miramonte Science Seminar is in the second year of operation. The program was very successful last year, due principally to the intense interest shown by many scientists in the community.

WORKING with the students have been the following men: Dr. Walter Haefele, as coordinator of the program; Dr. Garniss Curtis, leader of the earth science group; Dr. Rudolph Grah and Oliver Pearson, leaders of the life science group; Dr. Robert Kenney, leader of the physics group; Dr. Maynard Michel leader of the chemistry group Harold Olson, leader of the mathematics group and F. R. Davis, head of the science department at Miramonte High School.

Students who are continuing members are Lance Chilton, Sandy Corbett, David Duebner, Mike Eaton, Tom Hutton, Barry Klopfer, Jeff Knudsen, Lynn Loveland, Richard Miles, Peter Parrish, Tom Strong, Ken Wagner, Ken White, Barden Wilmar, David Wright and Fred Wright.

Mothers Club Meets Tonight

The Bentley School Mother's Club has planned an informal evening affair tonight at the school to welcome mothers of new students.

Mrs. R. T. Wilson, president, has appointed Mrs. C. H. Lane as head room mother. She will be assisted by Mesdames F. R. Dutra, kindergarten; M. R. Jessup, first; J. D. Gow, second; F. E. Langmaid, third; Edgar Frederick, fourth; W. L. Wagers, fifth; E. O. Driggs, sixth; H. L. Joseph, seventh; S. F. Lorencki, eighth; G. L. Bennett, ninth.

The classroom will be open with simple display of the children's work arranged for inspection.

Meeting with the new mothers will be other officers of the Bentley school Mothers' Club.

Crusade Residential Drive Launched by 1200 Women

Some 1200 women throughout Central Contra Costa launched the residential drive Wednesday for the 1960 United Crusade campaign. William Q. Walden is central chairman.

"Each year it is apparent the busiest women are those who find the time to help with our annual drive. When they solicit gifts from their neighbors, they are mindful of the existing problems in their communities.

"However we urge all residents to assist this feminine corp of volunteers by placing the "WE GAVE" stickers in their windows indicating their husbands gave at their place of work.

"This will stop the volunteer from calling as they make their door-to-door soliciating," Walden said.

Residential chairmen for Central Contra Costa are Mrs. W. C. Bonner for Lafayette area; Mrs. Harry K. Paris for Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Robert Dyer and Mrs. L. E. Chamberlin for Walnut Creek; Mrs. William J. Marshall and Mrs. James B. Dupuis for North Orinda; Mrs. Raymond Horne for South Orinda; Mrs. George H. Bradley for Rheem.

Others are Mrs. C. R. Clarenbach for Concord; Mrs. Harden Blevins for Martinez; Mrs. Jack Shahbazian and Mrs. Richard Craig for Danville-Alamo; and Mrs. Shoco Ogawa for San Ramon; and Mrs. J. F. Base for Moraga.

Skies Are Clear After a Sprinkle

Newspapers for Classroom Use? Sun Has Them!

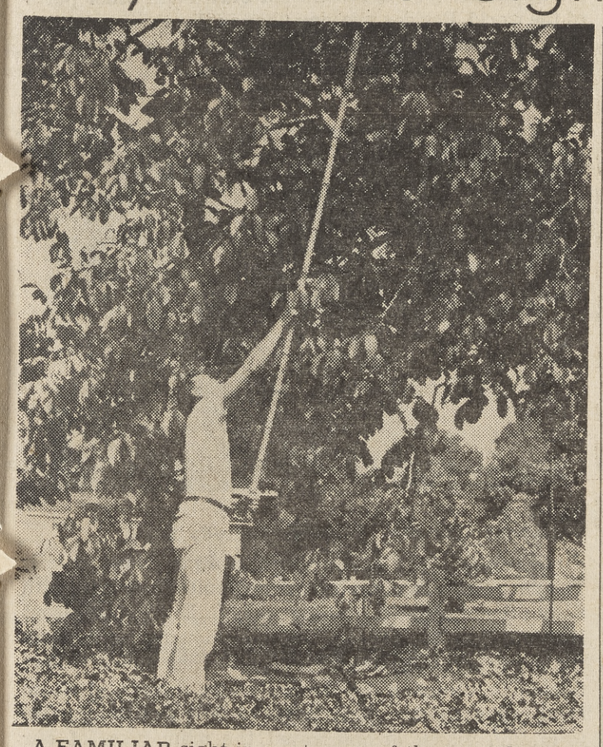
Attention all teachers and school administrators:

If you would like copies of The Sun for classroom use, they can be made available especially for you.

For example, if you are the teacher of a 6th grade class, and you want to discuss local events and/or local newspaper coverage of these events, The Sun will have available for you a copy of the current paper, one for each member of your class.

We ask, however, that you notify Mrs. Iris Casey, ATlantic 4-4444, at least one week in advance. Just tell her how many copies you will need, and which Sun—Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun, Walnut Creek Sun or Pleasant Hill Sun—you want.

Dirty Hands Signal the Arrival of Another Walnut Harvest



A FAMILIAR sight in most areas of the central county these days is residents taking to the bamboo poles or the pronged poles for the purpose of knocking all of the ripe walnuts off trees on their properties. Each annual walnut harvest brings with it many cumbersome tasks including hulling, cleaning and drying the nuts in preparation for sale. Here, Robert Vincent engages in one of our most common weekend pastimes. —Sun photo by Mattson.

BY LARRY GLAZIER

Have you found recently when you go to shake the hand of a friend or neighbor that his fingers are blackened to a considerable degree?

If so, don't feel sorry for him—chances are he hasn't given up the luxuries of modern-day living, such as soap, but rather that he is the owner of a central county property which has on it a number of walnut trees.

THIS IS THE TIME for the annual walnut harvest throughout this area, and with walnut trees located on many properties in the area, the rituals of the harvest have become familiar scenes.

The economics of the harvest practically require that property owners do their own work, from the emptying of the trees through the drying cycle. Besides, at times it can be "fun," and it always provides needed exercise.

So it is that wherever you go, you may see families sitting around on the ground or walking like ducks through great heaps of many-hued leaves or reaching over their heads with long, pronged poles.

THE DO - IT - YOURSELFERS among us first must capture all of the ripe nuts from the trees, many of which reach as high into the blue sky as 30 or 40 feet. Rooftops aid the long poles in managing to shake all of the limbs of each and every tree.

But with the desired walnuts, each shake of a tree brings down upon beautiful gardens and patios a wealth of the previously mentioned leaves.

Thus, the next step for our walnut harvester is the raking of the leaves in order to separate the ready-to-burn items from the walnuts.

Then comes the fun—and the dirty hands.

EARLY in the harvest season, the nuts are still safely and tightly sheltered within their green outer shells, commonly referred to as "hulls." As the season progresses, the hulls begin to crack open, making the job a little simpler.

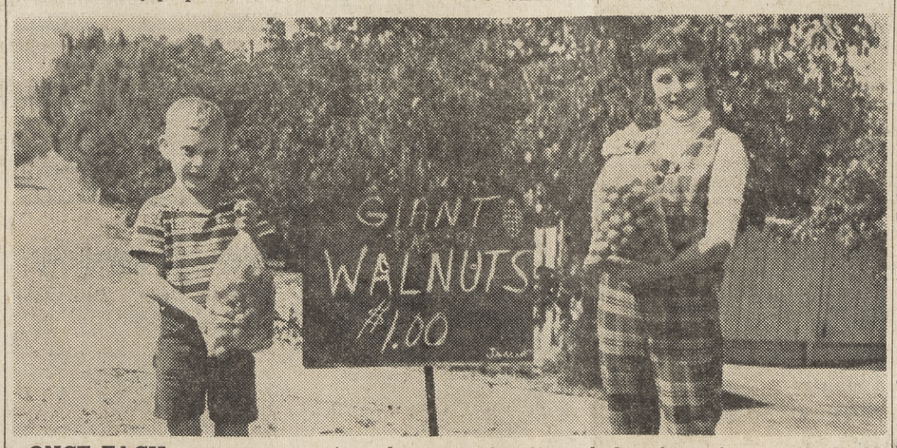
Let's assume that the walnuts with which we are concerned have not had the fortune of open hulls. This then requires a slight tapping of each and every hull with a hammer, the splitting open of same and the separating of hull and nut.

No matter how fine a pair of gloves you find to wear during this terrible procedure, your hands still will get dirty. The hulls have an uncanny knack of secreing a blackening liquid substance which manages to seep through any type of glove.

AND ONCE the substance is on your hands—or any part of your body, for that matter—it lives with you for a number of weeks. The hands can go through as many baths and/or washings as you choose—they will remain dirty.

When this tedious job is done and the walnuts have been dried, they are ready for packing and selling.

They can either be sold through the large walnut companies in the area or by individual property owners—and sometimes they might even make some money!



ONCE EACH property owner's walnut crop has been shaken from the trees, hulled and dried, the delicious (we hope) product is ready for sale. Sometimes, more fun can be had and more money can be realized if small roadside stands are established and operated by the children of the family. Jamie and Katie Lee are offering "giant bags" of walnuts for only one dollar. The walnuts may also be sold through professional nut companies in the area. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Sun Publicity Workshop Set for Troubled Souls

Are you saddled with that time-honored job which is so happily labeled "Publicity Chairman"?

Do you quake in your boots at the thought of invading a newspaper office and bearding an editor in his den?

Are you faced with failure every time you submit a news story, or a picture to a paper for publication?

IF YOU have these problems—or any of the others that face people who are interested in bringing their organizations into the public eye—then perhaps The Sun's annual Publicity Workshop is the answer to your problems.

And The Sun will sponsor such a workshop Monday, November 14, at 8 p.m. in the Acalanes High School cafeteria.

INVITED ARE all publicity chairmen, men and women who are interested in preparing informational bulletins for their organization, people who are having picture troubles, and just plain people who are interested.

There will be a host of experts present, mostly members of The Sun staff, and a variety of helpful literature.

Pardon My Dust!

While radios blared the World Series, the 49ers & the Raiders over the wknd., the winds blew up a storm here for Orinda's version of The Dust Bowl.

Sunday was Pop Warner Football Day honoring the new La-Morinda Thunderbirds, the feature attraction of the day being the Homecoming football game between the T-birds & the Contra Costa Pioneers at 1:30 on the Miramonte High School Field.

THE WINDS blew wild, whirling up miniature dust storms during the day but the only calamity was the fire going out under the pancake griddle at the outdoor breakfast held in Black's parking lot Sunday morning through noon.

The breakfast line-up in the shade, a shivery wait . . . Here, Chet Clark wrapping foil around the griddle's middle to keep out the cold wind & keep the pancakes coming . . . Coffee cups, paper plates & plastic were passed out by Jewel Patton wearing another of her striking sweater-skirt combos, the skirt a nubby olive green wool . . . Doing hostess duties, too, were Rosemary Maccario, Lee Texdahl. Betty Dewing . . . Ken Dewing pouring coffee & milk for the children.

FAMILY GROUPS bundling up w/their breakfasts at the benches & tables . . . The Nels Hambergs w/their AFS Australian guest . . . Former Mr. America Jimmy Payne flexing his muscles & giving a weight-lifting demonstration w/plenty of willing volunteers from the audience.

The T-Birds lining up for a long round of introductions by Spence Archer at the mike . . . Liz Cunningham, warm in wooly red & green plaid pants, chatting w/Jackie Archer . . . The Moore Pilgrims, the Pat Pooles among those who worked so hard for the success of this day!

Early afternoon the crowds heading for Miramonte & the colorful game . . . Greetings for Vic Bottari, Arleigh Williams, both former UC grid stars . . . The Bottaris recently moved to this area . . . Nancy & Bill Hanley, Stan Hunn, Frank Shirey climbing the bleachers to their seats . . . The brilliant sun, the bold wind, the Pom Pon girls & the boom & brass of the Weldonian Band, the linemen, coaches & players in uniforms of blue & white making this a junior-size spectacular. Go away, Wind!

LOTS OF SPIRIT shown by Sue Harlander, Mary Bartlett, Cathy Adams & Donna Peake, Pine Grove Pom Pon girls, who all looked pretty & peppy at the same time in their all-white costumes of white pleated skirts topped by white mohair sweaters—The Pom Pons of Columbia blue & white waving wildly in the wind . . . The game preceded by the singing & playing of the Star Spangled Banner w/color guards Dave Stilson, Bill Ellgas & Alan Hill standing straight & tall in centerfield . . . Everyone was asked to stand up for the Kick-off . . .

Gone with the wind for a Touchdown!

ON THE FIELD . . . Twins Jeff & Gregg Patton . . . Pat Dewing & Tom Archer sharing co-captain honors . . . Bill Prince, Bob Waldrep, Doug Dermit playing a good part of the game . . . Bill Cunningham wearing jersey No. 13 . . . (he's Pine Grove's prexy this term) . . . Richard Pilgrim in the helmet of No. 69 jersey . . . Center Jan Bottjer, Ends Jerry Texdahl & Scott Babcock . . . All of them for all the world looking like real Football Heros . . . & do you remember that song? (You gotta be a Football Hero—to get along w/the beautiful girls!)

TIME OUT FOR a hot dog at T-Bones for what's a football game without a bit of mustard on your chin! . . . Here Merle & Elaine Brown, the Ned deLaveagas, Nancy Longacre taking orders for soda, coffee & such . . .

HALF TIME & the wonderful Weldonians booming out with Seventy-Six Trombones PLUS . . . Drum majorettes, a bevy of baton twirly-girlies front & centering . . . Looked for Barbara Syverud but learned she had stayed home to help at the family affair, a Silver Tea honoring her father & mother's silver Annvy. . . . Alice Geide in the bleachers proudly watching her young son & daughter Kenneth & Alice who are in the band & baton corps resp. . . . A tricky routine w/all the trumpets . . . a tiny little fellow bringing up the rear of the 200-piece band, some of the baton cuties no bigger than pint-size . . . a vivid show & a treat to see the intricate drills.

THE PG Pom Pon girls doing a rock 'n roll routine to the tune of "The Swinging School" while the Thunderbirds went through calisthentics in rhythm . . .

The Andy O'Briens leaving after half-time, each w/an armful of sleepy-eyed & hungry twin boy . . . Stella Boyle w/her daughter Cissy watching as her son Peter served as escort to Sue Brown . . . the trio of young queen contestants circling the field in the Archer's white convertible . . . the three of them in pastel matching sweater-skirt combinations presented them by the Parents' Booster Club . . . Barbie Brush squired by Walter Altorfer, Sue Brown by Peter Boyle, Pam Martinson by Bill Kosack to the center of the field where Sue was crowned Queen & each girl was presented a floral bouquet gifted by Bill Seifert of the florist family . . . The SUN's Erwin Mattson busy w/his camera, Thunderbird pres. Joe Dame getting a second kiss on the cheek from Sue for the benefit of the press photographer who requested a retake . . . The second half of the game started as the wind buffeted us back to the car & home to the fireside & a hot cup of tea.

MIRAMONTE'S Matadors, varsity grid players, got together last Friday for a Pot-Luck party at the home of team member Robert Boyle's parents home in Sleepy Hollow . . . Stella Boyle aided & abetted by husband Bob, was her usual efficient self despite the fact that she & Bob had been out on the town in SF w/out-of-town guests the night before.

THE DINNER FARE w/huge portions of salads, casseroles, gallons of ice cream, etc., was served to the fellows at 5:30 in order that they could go on to the Acalanes-Clayton Valley game for a bit of prelim. scouting since they play Acalanes today.

Long legs & High Boys all over the Boyle's living room, all over the HOUSE . . . Here, Jack Gilbert whose mother Vinnie sent over a truckload of french bread . . . Mason Fries, Phil Stevens, Bill Hilger, Mario Albo, Jack Putnam, Randy Corsi more of those filling up that bottomless pit . . . Casseroles from Gail Miller, spaghetti by Leslie Corsi, salad & beans by Billie Bowles . . . .

Robin Wilson bringing in the milk by the CARTONS ordered by his family . . . John Rinne's family donating gallons of ice cream all for a licking good time! Coaches Don Phillips & Bob Brooks enjoying the athlete's party, too . . . Wayne Webster, Tom Ferguson, Carl Ogden, Bob Welch to mention just a few more of the MOB who were hungry growing athletes on hand! Stella, my hats (all of 'em) are off to you!

Swimmers score one, too!

While we're passing out medallions & mentioning athletes, here are some worth mentioning, too, of the water variety . . . for the Water Safety program, a therapeutic swim program held at the indoor pool at St. Mary's College every Sat. counts among its most valuable volunteers, local teenagers & adults, who give up their Saturday mornings to serve as volunteer Water Safety Aides . . .

The program, sponsored by the Red Cross, is unusual in that the Swimming For Handicapped includes pupils who are arthritis, stroke & polio-stricken, ranging in age from 3 to 68 yrs. old . . . The skills & stunts of the staff serve as a therapeutic help to the handicapped in this program which got its start in May, ran through the summer & is now resuming on Sat. mornings.

Among the Volunteer Water Safety Aides are Miramonteans Ron Bailey, Josh Donham, Peter Harmon, Jeff Kingston, Thomas Kling, Susan Kronke & Paul Meyer. The Meyers make this a family project since mother Maxine Myer is chrmn & her son Rich Myer who attends US also serves on the Aides staff.

More family members include Mrs. Lewis Thompson & her daughter Melinda . . . Mrs. J. M. (Betty) Boulware is another housewife donating her time & talent . . . Mrs. Stuart (Linda) Gilbreath another housewife-volunteer, lives on Don Gabriel Way . . . Adult instructors include Ginger Bascom, Chrmn. Maxine Myer, Margaret Nichol & Rocky Smith.

Ginger, an Orinda hswfe, is also Instructor at Meadow Pool but we hear that out of the blue she was called by JM's store who sos-ed her to be a buyer for their Children's Dept. in WC . . . Can't keep up w/THAT girl!

Rocky Smith is the husband of Tanager's Pat Smith & is a valued male instructor . . . Since the water program necessitates a water temperature of 85 degrees on Sat. am, this throws a monkey wrench into the team practice of the Saint Mary's Water Polo Team but they are more than glad to cooperate so that those who need this warm water may have it. A special thanks to St. Mary's College (Mr. Widmer—Comptroller) for it costs them $60.00 per month to heat the facilities & water.

Chrmn. Maxine Myer, Administrator of the Program & Water Safety Chairman for the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter of ARC has the experience of 12 yrs. behind her & received advanced training at the Red Cross Nat'l Aquatic School. If you know someone who would benefit by this program, please have them contact Maxine at DR 6-5548. You wouldn't believe some of the accomplishments that might seem impossible at first to stroke, arthritis, etc. patients!

If you don't throw me a Mae West any minute, I'll drown . . . too long in the water. Thanks, I'm up again!

SCUTTLEBUTT . . . Hear that Dr. Dick Morton, Orinda dentist, one of our town's few bachelors got himself married—& to a lovely former Miss California beauty queen . . . That leaves us Jean Cote (Lucky's Canadian clerk) to worry about . . . Now if someone will just find the Right Girl for HIM!

Progress in the schoolroom . . . Last year Mr. Grimes was a practice teach in Miss Woods 7th grade classroom . . . This year Miss Woods is MRS. Grimes & Mr. Grimes is the teacher in the family—at Pine Grove, 6th Grade!

SO YOU NEVER SAW A POODY TAT . . . well, wait no longer . . . The woods are full of 'em . . . Charlie & Emmarie Reid's Manx cat became a mother of only ONE kitten. She felt somewhat cheated when she saw that Brigitte, the Reid's french poodle, got blessed w/four puppies the following day. So Mama Manx & kitten over & in w/the poodles where, well, I shouldn't be so catty, but she's taken over completely!!! Nurses & bathes the poodle pups & her kitten which is now called "poody tat." Ain't Nature grand . . . As for the fancy Brigitte, it doesn't bother her a bit!!

That shiny little Singer that Fran Yeddia is driving around (no, NOT a sewing machine!) started out originally as a twelve dollar birthday gift but my, how it growed! That's what comes from such a thoughtful husband as Rom . . . The Del Thompson are expecting. Yep! They are expecting to change their status to Grandparents when dghtr. Lynn & husband become Mama & Dada in March.

Acalanes Trustees OK $750,000 Bond Sale

Trustees of the Acalanes Union High School District this week authorized the sale of $750,000 worth of bonds for construction purposes.

This amount will exhaust the funds available for school building which were made available by the last bond election of the district in 1955.

Proceeds of the bond sale will be used to finance the grading of the Rheem Center school site, construction of the multi-use and industrial arts buildings at Del Valle, and additional classrooms and an industrial arts building at Miramonte.

Further building construction to keep pace with the growth in enrollment of high school students in the district will depend on the outcome of the bond election set for February 14.

On the same ballot will be a request for the voters to approve a State loan of $750,000 with which to purchase sites for future schools.

In other business, the Board approved the filing of an application for National Defense Education Act funds to install additional units in the foreign language laboratories put into use this year, and for equipment and materials for the science and mathematics departments of the high schools.

The total amount to be expended is $62,398, half of which will be obtained from the Federal government and matched by district monies.

The Board heard a letter from Gerald Ansell, president of the Del Valle Parents' Club to the County Board of Supervisors requesting improvement of Tice Valley Road to permit safer pedestrian traffic.

It assessed liquidated damages of $1350 against the contractor for delay in completion of additions to Del Valle, approved the construction of a sidewalk, curb, and gutter from Tice Valley Road to the parking lot at Del Valle.

It heard a school discipline case in executive session, called for bids for the installation of a sprinkler system on the north athletic field at Acalanes, approved the policy of requiring a written request from persons desiring to appear before the Board, and approved an agreement for engineering services for the public address booth at the Acalanes football field.

The next meeting of the Board of Trustees was set for November 1.

Tom Hutton On TV Show

Tom Hutton, Miramonte High School junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. J. Hutton, 10 Snowberry Lane, has been awarded second prize in the 1960 West Contra Costa County Science Fair for an automatic telephone system designed and built in collaboration with Russell Briggs, 1959 Miramonte graduate.

Young Hutton appeared this week on the television program, "Science in Action," sponsored by the American Trust-Wells Fargo Bank, to demonstrate his automatic dial telephone constructed in the electronics laboratory at Miramonte under the direction of F. Richard Davis, instructor.

Explaining that the project was undertaken as an application of relaying and switching circuits studied in class, Hutton pointed out that the device eliminated the need for switchboard operators and resulted in more efficient communication.

Shell Employees Honored at Game

An afternoon at the ball game, followed by dinner at the new Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco, was held for two Orinda residents Wednesday by Shell Oil Company.

It's the firm's annual service emblem party attended by all employees with ten or more years' service. Honored guests were retired employees and those attaining their ten years' service this year.

Employees residing in this area and eligible to attend are Vernon R. Axelson of 76 Davis Road and Leslie G. Morris, Sr., 41 Bobolink Road.

In all, some 260 members of the San Francisco marketing division are eligible. The group, with an average of more than 25 years' service, will represent 4718 years of employment with Shell.

Newcomers Plan Fall Activities

Last Wednesday 51 Orinda newcomers and their guests met at the Red Mill for a luncheon and business meeting. Mrs. Dean Lippi, who has the Greeters' welcoming service in Contra Costa, was introduced to the group.

Mrs. Robert Stearns, vice president, presented Mrs. Robert Kromer and Miss Johnston to the Club. They spoke of the Lynn School for Retarded Children in Danville, and its need of support — both of services and financial.

Fourteen new residents in the Orinda area joined the Newcomers Club on this day. They were Mesdames Adrian Adams, John Bradley, Patrick Carroll, William Edwards, James Hawke, John F. Green, Harold G. Heaton, Donald Hess, Dexter Honens, Robert Malin, John Maschino, Malcolm Mahon, Robert Moss and Edmund Pinney.

The Newcomers Club meets once a month and also has special activity groups such as bridge, canasta, home and garden, bowling, golf and gourmet.

Anyone desiring further information may call Mrs. H. M. Polhamus, CL 4-3444 or Mrs. Blaine Dorsett, CL 4-8785.

Del Rey Parents Have First Meet

The first board meeting of the Del Rey Parents Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Joseph Longacre, Jr., last week.

This year, in place of the annual Welcome Tea, the board has planned a "get-acquainted" picnic to be held at the school on Sunday at 1 p.m.

Refreshments and soft drinks will be furnished by the Parents Club. Each attending family will provide their own lunch. All families of Del Rey students are cordially invited to attend.

In addition to Mrs. Longacre, the executive board includes Peter McCullough, vice president; Sidney Smith, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Chester O'Konski, recording secretary; and Mrs. Evan MacDonald, corresponding secretary.

Appointive officers on the Del Rey Parents Club board are Mrs. James Byers, room mother chairman; Mrs. Lloyd MacDonald, membership; Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Cavalli, ways and means; Mrs. David Liu, newsletter; Mrs. William Wood, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Sigworth, education and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dauphinee, school board representative; Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGookin, civic affairs; Mrs. Harry Anderson, health; Mrs. Earl Lawver, safety; Mrs. L. G. Patton, parliamentarian; Mrs. Herbert Lavigne, bridge; and Mrs. Lee Schwarz, library.

Did Sun Staff Carry Out Article's Suggestions?

By CONNIE PIKE

Nearly everybody reads The Sun! Especially "The Staff Corner."

A couple of weeks ago Jean Jernigan took the time to warn us of everyday hazards and urged us all to use more care. She pointed out the dangers of sliding glass doors, sharp kitchen equipment such as mixers and knives, and walking around without proper protection for your little pink feet.

The girls in our office read the article and immediately carried out some of the possibilities. The power of suggestion, perhaps?

If they didn't read the article, they should have.

THE FOLLOWING Monday one of the girls called in to say she had suffered a concussion after attempting to walk through her patio door.

She had come in to get some jewelry for a neighbor, leaving the door open. While she searched among her diamonds, somebody closed the door and she didn't bother to reopen it before going through.

We did not despair, however. She was recovering and the front office was efficiently covered by the other girl, we thought.

She was sitting at her desk, answering the telephone, swiveling to use the typewriter and generally looking capable.

THEN SHE stood. It took two brawny men to assist her to the car so she could have a doctor look at her ankle which, it developed, she had thoroughly broken Sunday.

A result of wearing the tiny, but high, heels we girls are so fond of these days. Seems as if she caught a heel in a grating and toppled over, leaving her ankle behind.

And then a third girl. She's a cute little thing, recently married. Naturally she enjoys making goodies for dinner, and Tuesday while cutting up vegetables for a new treat, she sliced a bit of her palm into the dish.

Tasty, perhaps, but not to be recommended.

SO IF YOU called this office last week and some wit greeted you with, "Good morning, The Sun Hospital," the voice with a smile probably sounded more hollow than cheery.

The effect of Mrs. Jernigan's article are wearing off now. The head and hand injuries are healing nicely, and the ankle is firmly bound.

We don't really know what to say. Should we repeat the accident article and make it required reading for the staff, and run the risk of more injuries?

Or should we refrain from mentioning the possibilities and hope the girls won't think up accidents all by themselves?

It's a problem.

Cossack Chorus To Aid Rec Facilities for Blind

Recreation facilities for the blind and other local charities will benefit when the world famed Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers come to Walnut Creek Sunday, November 6, at 3 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Walnut Creek Lions Club.

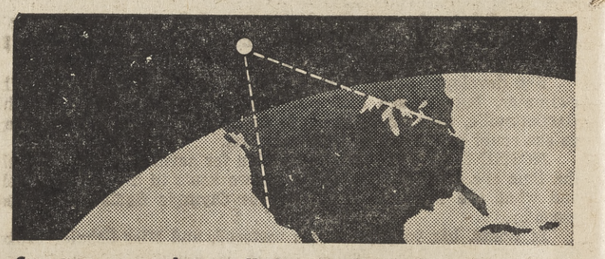
Aid to the blind is a primary project of the Lions, who have contributed several hundred dollars annually to the assistance of blind persons in the Bay Area. The Mt. Diablo Therapy Center's Memorial Care Fund also received a $300 donation from the club.

The local appearance of the Cossack Chorus will be the only one in Contra Costa County, according to Farrell J. "Mickey" Reilly, Lions Club chairman.

The event will be held in the Las Lomas High School auditorium.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda



Coast-to-coast phone calls by satellite. Scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories tell us that someday long distance calls may very well reach your home via man-made satellites.

Working under National Aeronautics and Space Administration's sponsorship, they carried on a two-way phone conversation between the Bell Telephone Labs in New Jersey and a NASA base in California via a "Project Echo" satellite. The signals carrying their voices were bounced off a 100-foot aluminized plastic sphere orbiting 1000 miles above the earth.

The Bell Telephone System has outlined to the government a plan to use about 50 satellites to provide communications between the United States and other parts of the world. Besides relaying phone calls, these satellites could also bring you live television from anywhere on earth.

Telephone Company Supports Crusade Drive

Battle Page

Baldwin, Page Tangle Over Voting Record

Congressman John Baldwin and his opponent, Douglas Page, tangled this week on Baldwin's stand on an anti-discrimination amendment to the 1959 housing bill.

Page charged that Baldwin "deliberately lied and falsified his voting record" during the course of a candidates' debate televised September 9 from San Francisco.

Baldwin answered the charge with notorized statements concerning his correspondance and vote on the measure.

Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York congressman and prominent Negro clergyman, "has given the lie," Page said, to Baldwin's denial that he had opposed Powell's anti-discrimination amendment to the 1958 housing bill and that he had, in fact, "used a hypocritical civil rights amendment of his own as a maneuver to kill the public housing provisions contained in the bill.

PAGE RELEASED the text of a telegram he received from Powell in which, he said, the Negro congressman confirmed his own prior accusation that Baldwin had not only opposed his anti discrimination amendment but had the very next day introduced a similar-sounding proposal in an effort to insure failure of the public-housing aspects of the legislation.

Baldwin answered these charges by pointing out that on May 20 Powell offered as amendment to the so-called "Herlong Substitute" to the bill. The amendment, in Powell's own words, called for "no discrimination because of race, creed or color." A standing vote was taken and the amendment was defeated, but Baldwin voted for the amendment, he said.

BALDWIN SAID that prior to the standing vote the "Congressional Record" shows that Powell said he would introduce a similar amendment to the committee bill if the Herlong substitute failed. He did not do so, said Baldwin.

Baldwin said that the following day during further debate on the measure he offered an amendment which proposed substantially the same thing as Powell's amendment had the preceding day. His amendment was also rejected.

Page quoted the telegram from Powell as saying, "John F. Baldwin Jr.'s statements are totally untrue. He tried to kill public housing. He did not vote for the Powell Amendment on the Public Housing Bill. I have never praised him for anything. While in California campaigning for Senator Kennedy, I will repeat this statement to the press and on the air."

However, Baldwin countered with a notarized copy of a letter from Powell addressed to "My dear Colleague" which says, "Your vote . . . for the Powell Amendment showed courage and conviction," and continues to thank Baldwin for his support.

HE ALSO provides a notorized statement from Clarence Mitchell, president of the NAACP Branch in Washington, D. C., to Arthur Scott, his counterpart in Vallejo, which praises Baldwin for his efforts in the civil rights fight.

In charging Baldwin with an effort to kill public housing and "trying to create the impression in the Negro community that Adam Powell has endorsed the local congressman for his supposed civil right record," Page said:

"These two falsifications are typical of the manner in which Baldwin consistently attempts to distort his record in Congress so as to show himself as a champion of legislation that he is actively engaged in attempting to scuttle."

BALDWIN, IN return, cited the Congressional Record and said, "The record clearly shows that I offered an amendment to the 1959 Housing Act which, if passed, would have eliminated discrimination in public housing based upon race, creed or color."

He also notes that "Page 7963 of the Congressional Record shows that Baldwin voted against so-called crippling amendments which were later offered and . . . shows that he voted against an attempt to refer the bill back to committee and that he voted for the measure as finally adopted.

"The . . . record of recorded roll call votes clearly demonstrates that the charge Baldwin was opposed to the housing bill is false.

Two Named Baldwin Workers

Mrs. Wendell R. Parker, 88 Cleopatra Drive, and Craig Harper, 585 Maureen Lane, have been named Co-Chairmen of the John F. Baldwin for Congress Committee. The appointments were announced today by Baldwin.

Mrs. Parker, past president of the Sherman Acres Homes Association and of the Pleasant Hill Republican Women's Club, said today on accepting the appointment, "I believe it is important for the people of our community to know that Congressman Baldwin is the ranking Republican on the House Flood Control Subcommittee. the third ranking Republican on the Roads Subcommittee, the Second ranking Republican on the Watershed Development Subcommittee, and the fourth ranking Republican on the 34-member House Public Works Committee. It is through this seniority, together with his diligence as a Congressman, that Contra Costa County has benefited so well in Congress."

Harper, a paper company salesman and active community and church leader, declared "Had it not been directly through the efforts of Congressman John Baldwin authorization of the $24 million Walnut Creek Flood Control Project would have been delayed for at least two to three years. The same holds true for the Marsh-Kellogg Creek Soil Conservation and Flood Control Project, which, when completed, will prevent the disastrous floods which have affected eastern Contra Costa in past years."

Waldie To Speak To Bank Group

The Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will have Jerome Waldie, Assemblyman from the 10th District, as guest speaker at a forum dinner tomorrow night at Kellogg's Steak House in Walnut Creek.

Waldie will speak on "California Water Problems."

Co-chairmen are Sherman Peters and Ken Fowler.

Democrats Plan Dinner Meeting

Marshall Windmiller, authority in the field of foreign affairs, will speak before the Orinda-Moraga Democratic Club tomorrow.

The meeting will be held at the Oak Springs Club House, Spring and Underhill Road, Orinda. There will be a social hour beginning at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Windmiller is the author of many articles on the politics of South Asia and is co-author of the book "Communism in India."

Foreign affairs is the subject of his regular commentary on radio stations KPFA and KPFK. This is also the field in which he teaches at San Francisco State College. He is editor and publisher of the new periodical "The Liberal Democrat."

His topic tomorrow will be "The New Look in Politics."

Reservations and further information regarding the Orinda-Moraga Democratic Club may be obtained by telephoning the club president, Jack Hubner, CL 4-4134.

King Parker Jr. Talks to Rotary

King Parker Jr., realtor from Walnut Creek, addressed the Lafayette Rotary Club last Thursday at the regular weekly luncheon meeting, held at the Red Mill.

Parker's talk was devoted to an explanation and discussion of issues to be decided by Contra Costa County voters in the forthcoming November election. He detailed arguments used by both the advocates and opponents of the various bills.

Parker was introduced by Neill Cornwall, program chairman of the day. Dr. John Moore presided at the meeting.

Equalization Board Begins 'Value' Study

A survey to test the average relationship between market and assessed valuation of taxable property has been started in Contra Costa County by the State Board of Equalization.

The reappraisal is part of the program to bring assessed valuation in each county closer to the state average, said John Lynch, board member.

Completion is scheduled for mid-December.

Each county must be reappraised every three years or oftener, and the last Contra Costa survey was in 1958, Lynch said.

About 375 properties will be sampled to reach the average.

If the county is assessing higher than average, the state apportionment will be increased, but it will be cut if the assessed values are lower, he said.

The estimate is that the county is 5 per cent below state average, which may mean a loss of school aid up to $375,000.

Check for $2800 Goes To Crusade

Ending a 10 day campaign at Capwell's-Walnut Creek, John Teague, store manager, today presented a check for $2800 to Robert Hawkins of the United Bay Area Crusade.

The campaign started with a talk to store employees by Mrs. John Kelly of Walnut Creek.

A 12½ minute film, "Power In Your Hands," was shown further emphasizing the activities of the agencies of the United Crusade.

Organized teams contacted individual employees for their contributions. The campaign resulted in a 10 per cent increase over last year's contributions.

Tague announced that 99 per cent of Capwell's employees had contributed.

Unification is Favorite Topic for School Groups

Five of Contra Costa County's six high school areas are now or soon will be engaged in studying possible unification.

The studies are undertaken by the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization, which is charged by state law with the responsibility of preparing a master plan of unification by 1963. Without this, the plan would be drawn for local school districts by the State Department of Education.

Dr. Frank Bradford, director of administrative services, Contra Costa County Schools, summed up progress in the various areas as follows:

ACALANES AREA—As directed by the augmented committee—consisting of the 11-member district organization group and the boards of all school districts within the area—a subcommittee will report October 26 on a proposal to obtain unification recommendations from the firm of Odell, MacConnell and Associates of Stanford University.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at Acalanes High School.

John Swett area—Final reports will be heard from subcommittees at a meeting October 24 at 8 p.m. at John Swett High School.

Committees reporting will include B. K. Shedd of Selby, member of John Swett High School board, finance; A. J. Guglielmana and Louis J. Clerici, Carquinez board, salary schedules; Mrs. Eunice Koller, Carquinez board, population projection and articulation (between grade levels), and George Berggren, Port Costa board, staffing patterns and school services.

RICHMOND area—Subcommittees for study will be appointed at a meeting to be called later this fall. The study is being reopened in the Richmond area at the request of Richmond Education Association.

San Ramon Valley area—A second meeting on possible unification in the San Ramon Valley will be held November 30 at 8 p.m. in the high school.

Progress reports will be given by A. C. Johnson, San Ramon (elementary) board, finance; Harold Smith, Danville Union board, salary schedules; Howard Wiedemann, San Ramon board, population projection.

Mrs. Shirley D. Evans, Danville Union board, articulation; Mrs. Frances P. Garrison, San Ramon High School board, staffing patterns, and Edward Thomas, Alamo board, school services.

Dr. Bradford said his office has been requested to arrange a public meeting to hear Dr. Edgar Morphet speak on advantages and disadvantages of unification.

Dr. Morphet is professor of education at the University of California.

Liberty area—A meeting will be called in the near future to reopen the study of unification in the Liberty Union High School area, as requested by the East Contra Costa County Tapayers Association.

Mikado Is Light Opera Offering

The Diablo Light Opera Company will present the "Mikado" as its next Gilbert and Sullivan production on the weekends of November 25 and 26, December 2 and 3.

Directors are James Schwartz and Virginia Blair.

The operetta written in 1884 has an original theme.

The company has double cast the show so that each of the two weekend programs will feature two different groups of performers.

The cast will be announced soon.

Nordfelt Is Toastmaster Standout

"Tools of The Trade" was the title of Charles Nordfelt's award-winning speech at last week's meeting of the Diablo Toastmasters club.

The ten minute talk drew an analogy between the collection of specialized tools used by a skilled craftsman and the powerful vocabulary of an effective speaker.

It also offered a simple method of systematically increasing one's stock of speaking tools or words.

Morna Phillips was awarded the "Table Topics" trophy for the best extemporaneous talk of the evening in competition with her husband, John Phillips as well as other "Old Pro" members of the club.

Wally Skoblin was voted the best evaluator of the evening.

Assisting club president, Paul Tuft were George Deeds and John Phillips as table topics master and toastmaster of the night respectively.

John Bruener attended the meeting as guest of Bob James.

The Diablo Toastmasters Club meets every Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Nut Bowl Restaurant No. 2 in Pleasant Hill. Men interested in self development through public speaking are invited to attend.

Go to Church Sunday

Baptist

"How Much Is Too Much?" will be the sermon topic of the Reverend Bruce H. Parker at the 11 a.m. worship service of the First Baptist Church of Orinda - Lafayette in the church located between Orinda and Lafayette on the freeway near Charles Hill Road. A junior church program and a nursery are provided for the "Small Fry."

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. with a big push to win the associational contest which has been in progress for the past two weeks, with only two weeks remaining. There are classes for all ages with closely graded material being used.

At 6:30 p.m. the BYF program will begin under the joint sponsorship of Rod Bellis and Jim Patterson. All teen-agers are cordially invited.

At 7:30 p.m. the evening service time will be held with a congregational sing period followed by a message from guest pastor, Reverend Raymond Ames from Bayshore Baptist Church in San Francisco.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 the prayer and praise service will begin with a preliminary Bible study time. On Friday evening at the same time there will be a continuing prayer meeting for all those who would care to participate.

All of the services convene in the church building and are open to the public. For counsel or prayer, call any time of the day or night, CL 4-2194 and the pastor will be delighted to be of any assistance.

Congregational

"Strength in Your Hands" will be the Reverend Chauncey Blossom's sermon topic at the 9:30 and 11 o'clock worship services in the Orinda Community Church.

The young people's choir will sing at the early service and the senior choir will sing "Cherubim's Song No. 7" by Bornianskiy at the later hour.

CHURCH SCHOOL classes, three-year-olds through the eighth grades, will be held during both services. Child care will be provided.

Information class for new members will be held during the 11 o'clock service in the minister's study. The second class will be held on Thursday, 8 p.m. in the Livingstone Room. New members will be received into the church on October 23.

The Senior Pilgrim Fellowship will meet at the church at 7 p.m.

The board of trustees will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The Junior Pilgrim Fellowship will meet Thursday 4 - 6:30 p.m. under the direction of the Reverend Walter Bishop assisted by Duane Estes.

Methodist

"Roman Catholicism: The Keys of Peter" is the sermon topic of the Reverend John L. Dodson, minister of the Orinda - Moraga Methodist Church which meets each Sunday at Miramonte High School at 11 a.m.

This Sunday the church school begins a new feature with a church school of first to third grade at the 11 o'clock service. Parents are invited to bring their youngsters with them to the church service and enroll them in this new class.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship, under the leadership of Cathy Cline, meets in the homes of members each Sunday evening. All teenagers are invited to attend this group.

On Tuesday at 10 a.m. a Bible study group meets at the home of the pastor, 143 Fiesta Circle, Orinda. This group is now studying the parable of Jesus. All interested persons are invited to be part of this group.

Membership classes are held each week at the parsonage, Sundays at 5 p.m. The next reception of members will be on Sunday, November 13.

If you are interested in knowing more of the Christian Faith or in uniting with this young fellowship you are welcome to call the pastor at DR 6-4355.

Christian

Concluding his series of sermons on Great Ideas of the Bible, the Reverend Darwin A. Mann has chosen "Another Chance" as his sermon topic this Sunday at the Lafayette Christian Church, 3419 Golden Gate Way.

The worship service is at 10 a.m., and church school classes for all ages are held at 9 a.m. Child care will be provided in two groups, one for infants and toddlers and the other for children of kindergarten age.

There will be a reception for new members at 8 p.m. at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Mann, 3337 Sweet Drive.

Members and guests are cordially invited to stay for a coffee hour following the morning worship service on Sunday.

The morning Bible study group will meet at the church Wednesday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. with nursery care provided. The evening group will meet at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hawkinson, 1052 Laurel Drive.

It's Time for Planting Bulbs For Spring Color

Here are items for gardeners to check this week.

Bulb planting season is close upon us. Most nurseries have their complete stock of spring bulbs now.

Use blooming pots of Cyclamen to replace Tuberous Begonias as they go out of bloom.

Sprinkle new lawns as required to keep moist. Some seeds in the mixture you planted are slow to sprout; and even a slight drying at this time will cause trouble.

Divide such perennials as Phlox, Primrose, Shasta Daisy. Plant new perennials from nursery flats for spring bloom.

Don't count on early rains to end the need for watering. Water up to and in the wake of fall's first storms.

Shrubs Planted Now Will Be Growing in the Spring

Any talk about hedges brings a mind picture of neatly clipped rows of Privet or Boxwood to most gardeners. There are those in the know, however, who like to range far afield in search of something different. And for these, the rewards are great.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that whether you seek something new or stick with the more traditional hedge shrubs, fall planting will pay off with results. Shrubs planted now will establish themselves during winter rains and be ready to start early growth next spring.

IN SELECTING SHRUBS for the hedge, you must first determine what need they will fill. Do you seek privacy from the stares of neighbors or passersby? Do you want a "neighborly" hedge that merely marks the boundary between your garden and the next? Do you desire the formality which only a sheared row of shrubs can give?

Only when you decide this can you get down to picking and choosing.

If privacy is your need and you live where the winter is mild, you will do well to consider the familiar Brush Cherry. This can be sheared severely but is better for less formal, slightly fuller growth.

TARATA PITTOSPORUM and English Laurel are substitutes for Brush Cherry, hardier and highly useful, formal or informal. Privets need no further praise. They are tops in any kind of hedge.

It is in the area of the full, informal hedge that many new gardeners need ideas. Stop in at a C.A.N. nursery and check such possibilities as the Pineapple Guava, Yew Pine, Bottle Brush, Tobira or a host of others.

And if your needs are small, look at the Boxleaf Hebe, Dwarf Myrtle or Boxwood, which can be sheared or unsheared. The thing to remember is not to decide until you've seen them all. There is no such thing as THE best shrub for a hedge.

There's Variety In Plants Giving Winter Coloring

Here is the gardener's check list for this week:

Plant Calendula, Cyclamen and Pansies for winter color; Stock and Snapdragons for late winter and early spring.

The many striking Lily hybrids can be planted this month. Be sure to give them good drainage.

Shop nurseries for early blooming azaleas. You'll find a good handful of them this month.

If snails and slugs are a bother, scatter snail pellets around the garden for easy control.

Staking will guard Chrysanthemums against the possibility of being flattened by early rains. Hold off feeding mums as they start to bloom.

Here's How to Control Noises In Family Room

Planning a recreation room? Don't forget about the noise problem.

This room is often called the rumpus room—an apt name, because if much use is made of the room it will probably be one of the noisiest areas in the home. This is the place for ping pong, games, record sessions, partying, etc. In addition, most recreation rooms will contain an abundance of hard surfaces off of which sound will bounce like light off a mirror.

A high decibel count (noise level) is therefore almost inevitable at times, and the need for effective noise control becomes important.

THE FIRST THING to bear in mind is to locate the room as far away as possible from those areas in the home where quiet is most desirable — bedrooms, dens, living rooms. In most cases a recreation room will find its place in the basement. For noise control purposes, this is probably the best location.

But whether the room is located in the basement or elsewhere, it would be a good idea to weatherstrip its door. If the door is of a thin panel construction, you might also cover one side with a sheet of insulating board and cover the board with plywood or hardboard to serve as a wearing surface.

Both of these precautions will, at little expense, lessen sound transmission between the recreation room and the rest of the house. But how about protecting the people in the recreation room from a noise build-up?

THE BEST—and an economical—way to do this is to finish off the room with acoustical tiles. These tiles are soft, porous materials which soak up noise much as a sponge soaks up water—as much as 85% of the noise hitting them. Available in a number of different surface designs, acoustical tiles will also strikingly enhance the appearance of the room.

The tiles are installed on the ceiling and may also be used on the walls, especially if you have a record or hi-fi corner in mind. Most installation jobs in recreation rooms can be handled by anyone handy with tools, but the assistance of a contractor or building materials dealer is easily attainable, if desired. Whether applied to ceilings or walls, the tiles often can be cemented directly to the surface or nailed, stapled or clipped to wood furring strips. Exact instructions are included in tile packages.

In many basements, however, there will be the problem of dealing with pipes and ducts which hang below joists. You can box them in—if there are not too many pipes and ducts and if they run parallel to the walls. If most of the pipes or ducts are hung below the ceiling joists, consider installing a suspended ceiling.

Foliage Is Sure Sign Of Autumn

There's no mistaking the time—usually in September—when fall first makes its appearance. You wake one morning, and there it is, totally unlike the summer day that went before.

If you react like most of us, you sense a certain nostalgia on this day. The overly brilliant sunlight and air that seems both balmy and snappy at the same time, stirs a longing for the tradition of fall—for the harvest scene of a New England countryside. But, sadly, this longing is seldom satisfied in California.

TWO FACTORS influence a lack of the traditional signs of fall in California. For one, our climate is mild enough to discourage the foliage color which marks the scene of an early cold snap. We get it in the foothills, on the desert and mildly in the Central Valley. But it's not the same fall we see on a colored postcard.

Secondly, and this we can do something about, we fail to take advantage of certain trees which do color up even in California. Any member of the California Association of Nurserymen can show you his trees and shrubs.

For a sure touch of fall, we'd consider at least two of the deciduous fruit trees. In northern gardens our choice would be the Flowering Japanese Cherries; in the warmer south, we'd try Persimmon. Either will color up nicely before dropping its leaves.

THE SCARLET OAK and the less familiar Northern Red Oak are two members of that family to be counted on for a show—especially back in from the coast. The lovely Maidenhair Tree, Sweet Gum and Chinese Pistache are brilliant reminders of fall even in coastal gardens.

There are others, too, as a look in your own neighborhood might reveal.

A Close Look at School Boards and Architects...

In some businesses, you just can't win. Even if you do the right thing, it might not be quite "right enough."

And last week the Acalanes Union High School Board of Trustees did the right thing, but it does bring up a question or two.

When trustees decided to build Del Valle High School, they also tentatively decided to use the same plans for construction of the new high school at Rheem Center.

This policy offers several advantages, and leaves little room for serious criticism.

THE MAJOR SAVING, of course, comes in the fee paid to the architect, who normally gets about eight per cent of the contract price of a high school.

In the case of our high schools, this can, ultimately, amount to over $1 million, including drainage, grading, etc. For example, grading and drainage work at the new Rheem High School will cost $253,000. Which also goes to prove that architects can be wrong. The estimate for the work was $298,000.

Anyhow, when you stop to think about it, eight per cent of a million-dollar-plus contract isn't exactly hay — it's $80,000 as a matter of fact.

So, what can the school district save the taxpayers by using the same plans for an additional school? Not quite half, as it turns out. The architect will continue the work on the second school for 4.3 per cent of the contract price.

Well, this seems like it is all right at first glance. After all, you're saving $40,000. (almost).

BUT WHAT IS the architect doing for this additional $40,000. Sure, he has to take the plans through the Sacramento offices—the State Department of Schoolhouse Planning, and he has to superintend the actual construction of the buildings.

He has to make minor changes in the plans to allow for the change of sites, and he has to prepare to call for bids.

But at half the original fee, it would appear that he's making a pretty good living.

How was the fee arrived at? The California Council, The American Institute of Architects, recommends that compensation for the re-use of plans and specifications shall be one-third of the normal compensation plus two and a half times drafting costs on all changes. Then they add a clause noting that compensation for obtaining bids and supervising the work shall be at the rate provided for new work.

And the final clincher: "The architect employed for the original project shall be employed for any project whose construction is based upon the re-use of his original plans." The quotes come from CCAIA document No. 100-57.

We just aren't sure that the trustees couldn't have been a little bit tougher with the architect and negotiated.

Sure, we're saving money this way, but why 4.3 per cent? Why not 3.5 per cent, or even 4 per cent?

This business between school boards and architects has been going on for a long time. Lafayette School District provided us with an interesting example here a while back when they ended up with a set of plans for Quandt School that were totally impossible. It would have cost far more to build the "monument" that the architect designed than the school board could ever have hoped to raise.

THE ARCHITECT, of course, felt pretty badly about it and offered to do the work on a set of portables without a fee. (He was paid, of course, for the plans that the district could not use.)

But nevertheless, the district paid him 5 per cent for the portable work.

We are generalizing, of course, in this discussion of fees and school boards, but it does seem to us that with the thousands of dollars involved, the school boards might take a little closer look at some of the agreements.

This is not meant in any way to detract from what the Acalanes board has done. It is the first time it has been done in this area and they deserve hearty congratulations for taking this step.

In fact, it leads us to ask one last question:

Can it be done more often?

How to Torpedo Your....

Now is the time of year when the local organization flourishes — the committees are abroad in the land.

This is the time when local improvement associations and service clubs are the most active, and it is a good thing, because they serve our area well.

And with the organizations come the members, those who either further or impede the progress of the group.

So, with that in mind, we would like to offer you a few excellent rules for killing your favorite organization, should you be so inclined.

FIRST, AND MOST important: When you attend a meeting, vote to do something, then go home and do the opposite.

And if that doesn't work, here are a few more for your edification.

Don't come to the meeting. But if you do come, come late.

If you do attend, find fault with the work of officers and other members.

Never accept an office or committee appointment, because it is easier to criticize than to do things.

If asked for your opinion regarding some important matter, tell the chairman you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to be done.

Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary; but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly and unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.

IF A BANQUET comes along and you are asked to sit at the speaker's table, modestly refuse.

If you are not asked, resign from the group.

Don't tell the association how it can help you, but if it doesn't help you, resign.

If you receive service without joining, don't think of joining.

At every opportunity threaten to resign and then get your friends to resign.

Always delay replying to communications from the association, or better yet, don't answer at all.

When asked for information, don't give it. Then cuss the association for its lack of information.

When everything else fails, cuss the secretary.

If you follow the above rules and get your friends to do the same, it ought to be out of existence by Christmas!

Don't Forget the Greens...

By DICK OSBORN

Have your youngsters ever met a sheep face to face? Or a racoon?

It seems unbelievable, but there are many, many youngsters around, it seems, who have never gotten personally acquainted with some of our domestic farm animals.

Or some of their wilder brethren who inhabit our hills and fields, either.

But, fortunately, there's an answer. And you don't have to buy a farm, completely equipped, either.

That answer can be found at the "Little Farm" located in Tilden Regional Park, just a few minutes drive from your door.

OF COURSE WE know that your children aren't naive enough to believe that eggs comes originally from a cardboard box which can be found at the nearest supermarket, but have they ever met a chicken?

The nicest thing about the "Little Farm" is that everything is scaled down to a child's size. The barn itself is only five-eighths the size of a regular building, and it houses a wide assortment of animals.

Just a few of the friends your children will meet include Mexican burros, sheep, calves and racoons.

It's almost a complete farm, too. The Old Corral surrounding the Little Farm contains many relics of farm equipment. Old disc plows, hay forks and other pieces of equipment were donated by the University of California at Davis.

And you can really make an outing of it, too. Just 100 yards from the barn is Jewell Lake, home of many varieties of wild duck, and you can easily include this beauty spot as part of your tour.

IT'S A PRETTY popular spot. More than 1000 visitors a week come to meet the animals, and park naturalist Jack Parker and his crew are pretty friendly people.

In fact, they invite the youngsters to bring greens and other edibles for the animals.

It's worth the trip, you know, just to watch a child's face light up with wonder and delight when the burrow actually munches the green carrot tops right out of his hand.

The Little Farm is open seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., so you can easily find some time to take your little ones there for a visit.

And you might be surprised. You might even enjoy the trip yourself!

Letters to The Editor

TEACHERS' STAND

Dear Editor:

One of our members has brought your searching editorial of July 15 to our attention with a request that we attempt to answer the questions you pose from the standpoint of CTA policy and experience. There is so much of the logic in this editorial with which we wholly agree that expression of CTA difference is limited to one phase of the discussion.

We agree that the community newspaper is obligated to report fully on news of public interest, especially in relation to public agencies. Public officials should assist the press by giving accurate information, the unpleasant as well as the pleasant. Suspicion, distrust and conflict grow out of concealment of perversion of the news. The press should report the achievements, progress and needs of the schools in its community. It should report also any malfeasance, inefficiency or neglect which tend to waste public funds or deprive children of maximum educational opportunities. So far, we agree.

Personnel problems are in a slightly different category. Is it in the public interest that every citizen be told each alleged error by any teacher, principal, custodian or bus driver? Is it in the public interest that personnel problems be the subject of public debate? We think not.

The law recognizes that the hearing or discussion of complaints regarding personnel is one of two valid subjects for executive or secret meetings of the governing board. Discussion of individual pupil suspension or expulsion is the other. This legal permission for executive sessions is based on the rights of the individuals involved and the efficiency of the public agency. An elected governing board has final responsibility for the quality of service rendered by school district employees, even though it may delegate administration of this responsibility to its school administrators. It must hear and investigate complaints, whether they are initiated by the administration or by other citizens.

There are many facets among the duties of teachers and school administrators upon which the public has little opportunity to gain factual knowledge or grounds for evaluation. Strong public feeling can be generated to support or oppose a teacher or principal on the basis of only one phase of his work. We feel strongly that most personnel evaluations should be left to the governing board and appropriate district employees. Public participation, though well-meaning, tends to destroy the very program it is attempting to support.

Obviously this is not true if district employees are accused of illegal acts for which they should be prosecuted. Neither would it be true if it is discovered that general policies or procedures were damaging the district as might be evidenced by high turnover rate, intense intra-faculty friction, or other observable indications.

In such instances, we feel that the press is responsible for an objective reporting of the facts and issues, with due care to obtain the facts as distinguished from subjective opinions.

A change of personnel to remedy a personality conflict which has not responded to other curative efforts might well be necessary for the good of the district, even though all those involved are capable in most respects. The public is in a poor position to evaluate such a situation, and the teacher or administrator dismissed or transferred could be needlessly damaged by an airing of the problem.

Furthermore, if the affected

In short, our only disagreement with your editorial is in your conviction that all problems should be aired at public board meetings, and that all administrative details, including personnel decisions, should involve public participation. We believe that citizens should be alert to express their concern as well as their commendations. We counsel educators—teachers and administrators—to consider every such expression seriously, investigate every complaint, and to report back to the complainer regarding the findings or the action taken. This should prevent accumulation of pressures that could explode the entire system into public controversy.

We must recognize that the community should hold the board responsible for the maintenance of high quality schools. The board, in turn, must employ an administrator and hold him responsible for the selection and development of an effective staff. This responsibility cannot be performed if every administrative decision is to be subjected to public debate and each employee's security is based on community popularity. The community, through its elected board, must set goals and general policies. Professional personnel must be given authority to develop and administer a program to meet those goals within adopted policies.

HARRY A. FOSDICK
Public Relations Executive, California Teachers Assn.

(Editor's Note: The Sun editorial referred to did not propose that all school district personnel decisions should involve public participation. The Sun contended only that final personnel decisions should be made in open meetings.

(The Sun also objected to a letter from the local group of the CTA which ordered local teachers not to say anything to the newspaper about the firing of a teacher. Of course, the teachers did talk to The Sun about the matter, despite the letter.)

We Like It Here...

Doggone It! Look Who's Got Me in the Dog House!

B/ MARIE MONAHAN

THE WAY things are with the Animal Kingdom around here, I don't stand a chance!

What I mean is that it looks like I'm in the Dog House for being kind to dumb animals. Who really aren't so dumb as we think.

LIKE THE big dog who adopted us.

Here he is eating us out of house & home & what does he do? He hams it up around the neighborhood at night, sitting forlornly in front of the neighbors' picture windows with his big plastic bowl in his mouth BEGGING—as if he were an orphan. I can just hear the neighbors talking—"Those mean Monahans—Poor dog!"

SOME NERVE this lovable pooch has! As if we didn't feed him enough kibble & canned horsemeat not to mention barbecued hamburger & sirloin bones to boot.

Since this irresistible ox sniffed us out as a kind of "security banquet," we have tried to locate his owner whose name was not discernible on the worn dog tag.

WE have even tried to find him a good new owner, one that hunts preferably, because this is a purebred that-kind-of-a-dog, German short-hair, red-bone hound. With liver-brown coat slick as a sealskin & a knowhow for pointing his tail & nose in true hunter-style.

WE ARE not a Nimrod Family & it's obvious this dog is frustrated for the open fields of dove & pheasant.

Here he has settled for the bluejays & the cat, the bird & the bunny & an occasional friendly chase of the paper boys.

HE LOVES the woods around here, especially the oak trees that make him very respected by the other dogs. Who, naturally, come around to pay their daily respects.

But Alas, now I'm in the dog house because I didn't get him a license.

WHAT with one thing & another, I figured I'd wait & let the new owner get it. Besides there wasn't much time left for anything after stirring up his beefheart stew & stashing away his poochy purchases.

But there still is no new owner, we still bring home the bones & NOW I'm summoned to court.

FOR A LAW-ABIDING lady with an unblemished record, I feel positively criminal. My road to the Muni Court, Dear Judge, is paved with good intentions!

I was only trying to save this birddog from the long sleep—or the fast car.

HE is too much for us as a permanent fixture. But I'll willingly keep him in kibble until the right man in a red cap with a Winchester rifle comes along.

Now it's time that Man's Best Friend proved himself to me.

When they lock me us, do you think he'll toss me a bone? Will he, when I'm behind bars, whimper outside MY window? When I post bail, do you suppose the dog will love me just the same—even though I no longer can blow for beefheart?

Will his eyes grow sad, will he miss my voice?

We shall see, we shall see.

IT'S A DOG'S LIFE, I tell you . . . & Honest, Judge, if you happen to hunt, I know where you can get the best dog . . .

We Want to Thank YOU!

The Sun is more than indebted to the hundreds of you who took the time and trouble to fill out our little Five Minute Questionnaire last month.

We had hoped to be able to give you the results — not only in written form, but in obvious improvement in your newspaper — before this, but frankly, we have been swamped!

The opinions expressed by all of you are still being tabulated. It wasn't so bad tabulating the little checked squares on the form, but digesting the letters that so many of you wrote on the back has turned out to be quite another problem.

NEXT WEEK — October 15 through October 21 — is National Newspaper Week. The Sun had hoped to be able to tell you of the improvements that will be made in your newspaper during this time.

But we just couldn't do it!

But we can say this: The Sun is your newspaper, and without your help and cooperation, we could do nothing.

We are indebted to our advertisers who have been supporting us with their ads for years, and we are indebted to you, our faithful readers, who have shown your faith in us by subscribing year after year — and by supporting the merchants who support your community.

But most important of all. The Sun is your newspaper, and we who work on the staff want to provide the kind of newspaper that you want in your home.

So if you have any suggestions — or complaints — forward them to us. We'll try to improve your product.

Under The Sun

Will Page Beat Baldwin In Congressional Race?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Will this district have a new congressman next year?

Will Democrat Douglas Page defeat Congressman John Baldwin, republican, in the November election?

If I were to ask these questions of voters here in Central Contra Costa County, I'm certain that a vast majority would say, "No, Baldwin will be reelected."

We must remember that our community is a republican stronghold and certainly most representative of the Sixth Congressional District, which covers Solano and Contra Costa counties. These are solid democrat counties.

The donkey is stronger

Just look at the registration figures in our county: 122,057 democrats; 75,038 republicans; 5,014 non-partisan. Vallejo and the rest of Solano county is also heavily democrat.

This democrat registration, of course, is not new. For years this has been a democrat district. It is amazing that we have a republican congressman — and have had a republican assemblyman (Doyle).

Living in our republican area and having seen Baldwin defeat the democrat challengers, it is not so surprising that most of us take for granted his reelection.

I assumed the very same, until a few weeks ago. One Friday I sat down with Doug Page, who is a Walnut Creek city councilman and talked about the campaign, issues and his opponent.

Talking and yakking

Two days earlier I had appointments with Republican George Krueger (who is opposing Assemblyman Jerrie Waldie, democrat), and with Republican King Parker (challenging State Senator George Miller). More about these discussions later.

It is fun and interesting talking to the candidates. The part that is not much fun for a newspaper staff is determining which candidates to endorse. Sun staff members are now studying the candidates and issues. And that is the major reason for discussions with Page, Krueger and Parker.

(We do not spend much time interviewing the incumbents because we have done so in the past and their record is in front of us).

Let's get back to the congressional race.

Doug Page flatly predicted he would defeat Baldwin. He was not being egotistical or arrogant; he was stating the facts as he saw them. And the facts he presented opened my eyes:

Last election, Orinda's Howard Jewel, democrat, lost to Baldwin in the general election by less than 3000 votes. In the primary, Jewel trailed Baldwin by about 17,000 votes. Thus Baldwin was almost upset in the general.

Now here this!

Last June Page led Baldwin in the primary by 9,900 votes!

Since then there has been a heavy increase in registration—mostly democrat. And Page points out that he has Kennedy's personal endorsement and, with this county probably going for Kennedy, he should pick up additional strength. A presidential year is in his favor, Page predicts.

Page is an able, alert, intelligent young man. He speaks well, is a good organizer, is personable. He has an excellent grasp of the many issues facing the country. He is a liberal democrat; endorsing the party's platform and philosophy. He says his opposition has not used this against him—that he is a law partner of Bob Condon. He quickly adds that he will gladly tackle anyone on this, if they wish to use it.

I am not attempting to weigh the merits of Page vs. Baldwin in this column. The Sun has endorsed Baldwin in the past. He is the hardest working, most sincere public official that I know. He has done a good job; he votes on every issue. The fact that he has served this democrat district for eight years speaks well for his ability.

A tough decision

Both are good men. You and I will have to decide which is the better.

The Sun's endorsements will be announced in a few weeks. And then you can vote against everyone we endorse!

Circle your calendar: The above named candidates will debate each other in the Sun's Candidates' Night, Wednesday, November 2 at 8 p.m. at the Acalanes Gym.

Last week I didn't finish a few final comments on my recent press trip with 13 other newsmen to the Far East. If you're interested, read the story below.

What Did the Editor Learn on Pacific Trip?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

What did I learn in three weeks in the Far East?

It is apparent that the U.S. has held the line in the Pacific. If we had permitted Korea and Formosa to fall into Communist hands Japan, Philippines and South-East Asia would also fall. Then, our battle lines would be at the Golden Gate.

We must continue to work with our allies to keep them free; continue to help them build their armies. Their manpower saves billions of dollars and many men. We must continue to help them raise their standard of living.

Communists are determined

In Panmunjum, Korea, I stood 100 feet from a tough-looking North Korean infantryman. In Hong Kong, I heard stories about the rugged, determined Communist Chinese armies. In Quemoy 2300 yards from Communist China, I saw the results of Communist shelling.

The Communist's goal is world domination. This is no secret; this is their stated policy.

We must face this. Prepare for this. Not be so concerned with buying a new car or joining a new club. The least I can do as an individual is to be informed. I often skipped the sections in "Time" regarding Laos, Thailand or Japan. I won't any more.

We must do more

The free world must not just hold the line; we must do more. We must tell the story of Democracy better. This nation has the best salesman in the world; the best advertising, the best merchandising, the best public relations.

Yet, we are not getting our message across. Our information services seem to come out second best much of the time. Example: we have many Japanese, Chinese, Koreans and Filipinos of American descent in Hawaii. Two of Hawaii's congressmen are from Asiatic descent. But this story has not been told in Asia.

We must give them more than words. They want a bowl of rice and a chance for their kids. If they don't get these under democracy, they will turn to communism. We must wisely share with them. This may be our last chance.

I am not really as pessimistic as this sounds. You and I know that our way of life is better. But we must not take it for granted. The United States, you and I must do our share.

What do you think?

Meet the Bright Wedding Couples of the Season

ST. PERPETUA'S Church was the scene of the September wedding of Priscilla Jean Meyers and Benedict S. Davi. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Myers of Lafayette. —Hal Matson photo.

Priscilla Myers Becomes Bride Of Benedict Davi

Priscilla Jean Myers became the bride of Benedict S. Davi on September 24 in ceremonies at St. Perpetua's Catholic Church in Lafayette.

The bride's formal gown of silk peau de soie was originally worn by her sister, Mrs. Alan Hendren, who was married two years ago in September. Her headpiece was a crown of seed pearls which held her fingertip circular veil in place.

White roses and lily of the valley, centered with white orchids fashioned the bridal bouquet.

Ann Hightower was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Prudi Meyers and Patricia Hendren, sisters of the bride; Judy Lindahl, Linda Leffel and Rosalie Davi, sister of the groom.

The ushers were Allen Ransome, Craig McKay, Alan Hendren, Myron Robb, Sal Aiello Jr. and Benedict T. Davi. The latter two are cousins of the groom.

The bridal attendants wore gowns of moss green satin with full skirts, matching shoes and bows. Their flowers were bouquets of rust colored chrysanthemums, acorns and sheath of wheat.

Mrs. Gilbert W. Myers, mother of the bride, wore a gown of emerald green and brown orchid corsage. Mrs. Sal B. Davi, mother of the groom, wore a peacock blue sheath and lavender orchid corsage.

Diablo Valley Panhellenic Has Buffet

Forsaking the usual "morning coffee," Diablo Valley Panhellenic delegates and alternates enjoyed a festive buffet luncheon following their recent meeting.

The event was held at the Concord home of Mrs. Sam Conti. Members of the executive board were co-hostesses.

The morning business session included reports and information concerning the recent rushing and pledging activities at the University of California in Berkeley.

Looking ahead to next year, the Diablo Valley Panhellenic plans to augment their present recommendation files aiding the member sororities with more informative data.

Tentative plans are being made available for the convenience of those delegates and recommendations chairman residing in the eastern area of Contra Costa County.

Officers for the coming year were elected. The new board will be headed by Mesdames Alexander Laurencee, Alpha Omicron Pi, president; David L. Hagmann, Alpha Phi, vice president; Robert B. Horonjeff, Phi Mu, treasurer; Arthur C. Scheu, Kappa Kappa Gamma, recording secretary; Chris H. Zacher, Chi Omega, corresponding secretary; Robert R. Gammon, Alpha Xi Delta, publicity.

Wilbur-Daly Engagement Is Revealed

An open house at the new home of her parents was the occasion Jo Anne Louis Wilbur chose to reveal her engagement to Allen Elwood Daly.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wilbur of 3613 Lincoln Way, Lafayette. She is a graduate of Acalanes High School and Diablo Valley College where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma Honor Society.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur T. Daly Jr. of 391 Picadilly Court, Concord. He attended schools in Japan and Nurnburg, Germany, graduated from high school in Yorktown, Virginia and is now attending Diablo Valley College.

An early summer wedding is planned.

Delta Zetas Celebrate Founder's Day

October means Founder's Day for all Delta Zetas, nationwide, when they celebrate the anniversary of the sorority's founding at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1902.

Mt. Diablo Delta Zetas held the traditional candle lighting ceremony honoring the sorority's six founders at a meeting held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Bruce Herbert, 330 Maryal Road, Pleasant Hill.

Politicans To Speak Before Orinda AAUW

Local candidates for state and national office will be presented at a "Candidates' Night" by the Orinda branch of the American Association of University Women on Thursday, October 27, at 7:45 p.m., at the Pine Grove School in Orinda.

Speakers will include Congressional candidates, Sixth District; John F. Baldwin, Republican (incumbent), and Douglas R. Page (Democrat), State Senator, 17th District; George Miller Jr., Democrat (incumbent), and King Parker Jr., Republican, Assembly, 10th District; Jerome Waldie, Democrat (incumbent), and George Krueger, Republican.

This will be the only time that all of these candidates will appear together in Orinda. The public is cordially invited to attend and question the speakers.

Linda Nickerson Engaged To David W. Stuart

Revealed early in September at a surprise brunch party, the engagement of Linda Louise Nickerson to David William Stuart was announced recently to her Delta Gamma sorority sisters at San Jose State College.

Miss Nickerson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Nickerson of 64 Hillcrest Drive, Orinda. She graduated from Acalanes High School in 1957, where she was a member of Fantasia, junior branch of the Children's Home Society.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolger of Whittier, is a senior at San Jose, where he is majoring in economics. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity for which he is rush chairman this year and served as delegate to the fraternity's national convention in Boston last summer.

Twice told, the engagement was first announced at a brunch given for the bride-elect by Mrs. Gordon Henriette of Diablo Circle, Lafayette, and her daughter, Lynn, at their home.

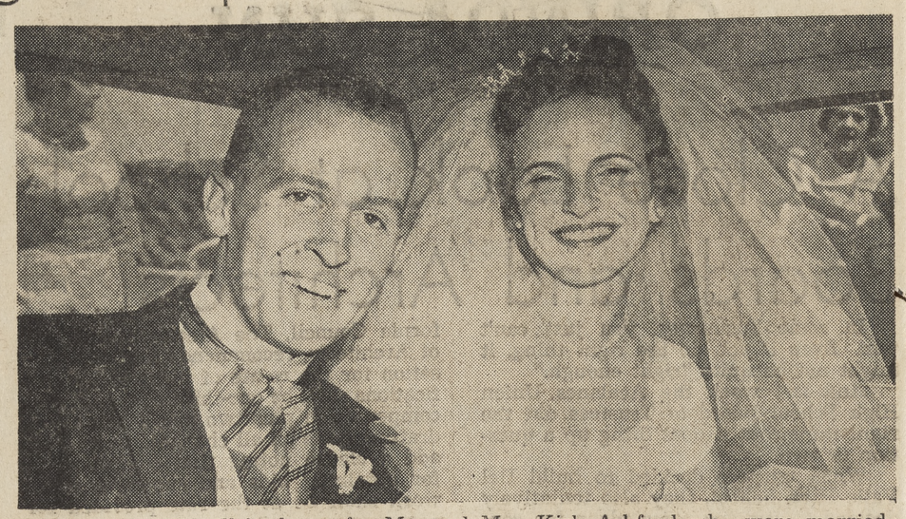
The couple will be married early in February.

Jewish Women To Have Lunch Meeting

The League of Jewish Women, Sisterhood of the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, will meet Wednesday at the center.

Subject of the meeting will be "The Minority Vote in America." Speakers will be Gilbert Cartwright, an accountant in Richmond, vice chairman Democratic County Central Committee, and Al Affinito, a Pittsburg attorney and member of the Republican County Central Committee.

Theme of the noon luncheon preceding the 1 p.m. meeting is "Gourmet's Delight." Mesdames J. Siner, D. Highiet and J. Deutscher will be in charge of the luncheon. Those unable to attend the lunch will be served coffee and cake by the hospitality committee.



MENLO PARK will be home for Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Ashford who were married recently at Santa Maria Church, Orinda. She is the former Anne Marie Cianciarulo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cianciarulo of 41 Estates Drive, Orinda.

Forecast: SHOWERS TODAY AND EVERY DAY!

Oakland's Leo Cecaci works in front of an open-hearth steel furnace. Eight hours a day at temperatures in the 100's. How to beat heat like that? Leo does it with EBMUD water – plenty of cold showers.

Leo uses a lot of water, but he's not likely to run out. In the first place, EBMUD already brings nearly 160-million gallons into the East Bay every day. In the second place, the $252-million expansion program you okayed at the polls in 1958 is moving swiftly ahead.

The result? Plenty of showers for everyone. And enough water to stay well ahead of population and industrial growth.

Mrs. Bill Kimball Keeps Running...

Civic Affairs or Family, She Copes With Ability

By JEAN JERNIGAN

She's the most fantastically interesting person I know. I am amazed at what she can do. I come home from work and look around and find the house sparkling clean, the kids all clean and dinner ready, she's a wonderful person."

These words were spoken with spontaneous enthusiasm after 14 years of marriage and five children. They were spoken by the husband of the lucky lady in question, Mrs. Bill Kimball of 1906 Helen Road, Pleasant Hill.

Betsy Kimball is a petite, vivacious brunette, whose mind is as active as her five youngsters. Interested in journalism, she came to Berkeley from Portland, Oregon, to study at the University of California.

IT WAS while studying at the University she met Bill, who was then in military service. "I had a girl fried who dated a boy in service," she recalled. "She bet her date that she had a friend who could out talk anyone. The date in turn bet her that he had a friend who could out talk any girl.

"The two of them then arranged a blind date for Bill and me, and we've been talking away to each other ever since," she laughed.

The Kimball's children are David, 10; Deborah, 8; Scott, 7; Patricia, 5, and Douglas, who is three. Being mother to this lively group keeps Mrs. Kimball involved in a variety of activities.

SHE HAS been a room mother, is assistant first grade Sunday School teacher at Hillcrest Church, helps out at a tumbling class for families once each week, assists with Bluebirds and stands by when needed for Y Guide activities.

No matter how busy Betsy Kimball is with her young family, her friends and neighbors know they can count on her when help is needed.

She didn't tell The Sun, but a friend of hers called to say that no article about Betsy would be complete without mentioning the hours in this way. The friend said, "She is so busy helping other people, she doesn't realize all that she does. Not a day goes by that she doesn't help someone."

SOME OF these helping hours included driving the Jaycees Santa Claus around on his visits when other transportation was lacking; hours spent making phone calls for various civic functions; piling all of her children in the car and delivering hundreds of handbills for one affair or another important to the community.

When her husband was ill for months, she pitched in and acted as his chauffeur, secretary and number one assistant . . . and still kept the children happy, clean and well fed.

"I'm not much of a sewer," Mrs. Kimball remarked, "but I do like to cook. I majored in home economics when in high school and really enjoy working out a variety of concoctions."

CASSEROLES are the family favorite, and Mrs. Kimball makes a variety of them. Family picnics are tops on their fun list, and one reason may be Mother's delicious casseroles that go along.

Mrs. Kimball's activities with adults include participation on the Busy Belles bowling team each Tuesday, attending the Pleasant Hill Home Extension evening group meetings, serving as president of the Pleasant Hill Jaycee-ettes and activities with the Civic Music Association.

High on the lists of her interests is her work as a member of the Clams, a central county committee for lecture, art and music. "The committee was formed," she explained, to acquaint people in Central Contra Costa County with the many facilities at St. Mary's College.

"THERE ARE many cultural events offered on campus free of charge on a non-sectarian basis. Too few people are aware of the wonderful opportunities existing so nearby, and it is the work of the committee to acquaint them with these activities," she concluded.

Together, Betsy and Bill Kimball like to attend concerts, but most of all, she said, "I like to go out to dinner!"

Mother of a rollicking young family, no story about Mrs. Kimball would be complete without mentioning another life she mothers, the family's pet dog, Cookie.

"Cookie is a sweet darling," she commented ruefully, "who likes to dig holes in neighbor's lawns, tear up their papers, investigate their garbage and nobody likes her but us. We love her."

Juniors To See Red Cross Film On Insufflation

In observation of Safety Month the Junior Women's Club of Walnut Creek will have Karl Mahler of the American Red Cross Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter as their speaker on Tuesday. Mrs. Mahler will present a film "That They May Live", dealing with artificial respiration, mouth to mouth method. He will instruct the members in the mouth to mouth method of artificial respiration.

Many of the local club members are preparing to travel to Tracy tomorrow, where they will meet at the Tracy Inn with 100 other women for an all day Mt. Diablo District Conference. The theme of the conference is "Campaign in the Country".

The Walnut Creek club is particularly proud that one of the speakers on the agenda is from this club. She is Mrs. Donald Carson who is the State Chairman on Mental Health. Another local club member taking an active part is Mrs. Grovenor Fox who is Conference chairman.

Others attending from Walnut Creek will be Mrs. Edwin Robinson, president of the Juniors. Delegates will be Mrs. William Gilman and Mrs. Fred Gomez. Others participating are the Mesdames Arthur Larson, coordinator; Sherman Camp, senior president; Laurence Smith, Albert Taylor, Charles Clausen, Fred Gallanthine, John Rousset, Roger Black, Donald Tice, and Harry Hemstalk.

A MEMBERSHIP meeting will be held Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Michael Jason, 1697 Poplar Drive, Walnut Creek, for women interested in joining the Auxiliary to the Council For The Retarded. Women who would like to serve their community in this way, may call Mrs. Jason at YE 5-0736. Pictured from left are the Mesdames Harold York, Michael Jason and Peter Hinton.

Junior Women To Convene Sat. for Fall Conference

"Campaign in the Country" is the theme of the third annual fall conference as announced by Mrs. Edward Allen, district president from the Lafayette Suburban Junior Woman's Club, and Mrs. Grovenor Fox, conference chairman from the Walnut Creek Juniors.

The October Conference will be held at the Tracy Inn in Tracy tomorrow. The Tracy Juniors and the Stockton Juniors with an assist from the Brentwood Juniors are hostessing the day long affair.

Guest "representatives" are Mrs. J. Vaughn Shahbagian, Mt. Diablo District senior president from Alamo; Mrs. Robert Bennetts, state junior vice president from Selma; Miss Chirley Wise, state junior treasurer from Oakland and Mrs. Donald Carson, state junior mental health chairman from Walnut Creek.

The agenda will include all district chairmen presenting their projects in the form of "Getting out the Vote," such as readying a campaign for "The Teen-age Miss of 1961," "The Citizen of the Year," "Teacher of the Year" and the "basic platform" for a pattern sewing contest and a contest for a scholarship for a high school art student. "Balloting" for the district winners will be held at the district convention next May.

The clubs will be competing for a special award from General Federation of Women's Clubs for the most unique program in the campaign to "Get out the Vote." This award to be given at the GFWC convention in Miami Beach in June 1961.

The conclave will draw delegates and guests from the fourteen clubs throughout Contra Costa and San Joaquin Counties.

Mrs. Clem Ellerson, district coordinator from the Lafayette Suburban Woman's Club, is extending bids to all coordinators in the district to a "caucus" on Junior-Senior Club Affiliations.

Alumnae Plan House Tour

The Anna Head School Alumnae house tour plans are well under way, each home having outstanding individuality. The homes of Mrs. Harry Jackson and Mrs. Chauncy Pond Jr. in Lafayette will show country living which can be either formal or gracious simplicity.

The gardens, swimming pool and home of Mrs. Charles F. Borden are an example of inviting informality. An exhibit of art work done by the students of the school will be shown at the Woodburn Lamb home, arranged by Mrs. Donald Cooksey, and tea will be served at the home of Mrs. Theodore Harrer in Orinda.

Helping to make the day one of unusual interest is a large group of alumnae working with Mrs .Don Blessing, chairman.

Flower arrangements will be planned by Mrs. Augustus Guy and Mrs. Charles Hayden.

Hostesses in the homes will be Mesdames Leland Foster, John Sexson, Robert Henshaw, Francie Hutchens, Joseph Sadusk, Robert Greenwood, Norman Hearn, David Haugen and Joseph Costantino.

Assisting with the tea will be Mesdames Hugh C. Miller, Kendric Morrish, Frederick Henderson, Joseph Townsend and Soule DeVelbiss.

Yosemite Guild Membership Tea Is Thursday

A fall membership tea is being planned by the Yosemite Guild of the John Muir Memorial Hospital.

The tea, an annual affair, will be held on Thursday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Don Campbell of Tichenor Road, Lafayette.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Jack Marchant, president of Yosemite Guild, will act as hostesses for members and their guests.

Mrs. Peter Mattei is in charge of invitations.

At a recent meeting Mesdames Robert W. Young and Jack Hohenberger, both of Walnut Creek, were welcomed as new members.

Volunteer Needs Are Discussed

Diablo Valley 20-30 Annes met recently at the Walnut Creek home of Mrs. Jov Monroe.

Mrs. Opal Williams of the Volunteer Bureau was the guest speaker. She discussed the needs of the various organizations which are served by volunteers from the bureau.

The Annes made plans for their Christmas project and for a trip to San Francisco on Wednesday to see the musical, "Show Boat."

Weird Dress Is Feature Of Merry Mix Up Dance

Anyone spying suspiciously dressed characters tomorrow night need not report it to the proper authorities as all those in oddly assorted garb will undoubtedly be on their way to the Merry Mix Up Dance.

The dance is sponsored by the Hummingbird Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center. It will be held at the Walnut Creek Elks Club with dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Incongruity of costume as well as decorations will carry out the theme of the event. Prizes will be awarded to the most outlandish combinations. However, the orchestra of Fred Cochran will stick to the conventional and supply danceable music.

In charge of plans for the evening is Mrs. Richard W. Wheaton with Mrs. Fred Cochran acting as co-chairman. Mesdames Warren Phelps and Glenn Hixson will be responsible for the decorations while Mrs. Robert Simpson will plan for the refreshments.

Other committee members are Mesdames Steven Szybalski and Herbert Moran, who are in charge of ticket sales. Tickets may be obtained from any Hummingbird member. Proceeds will go to the Therapy Center.

Suburban Juniors Will Attend Tracy Conference

The Lafayette Suburban Juniors will attend the annual all day conference of the Federation of Womens Clubs tomorrow at Tracy.

Representing the local group at the conference will be Mesdames Richard Butler, Gerald Hosking, Charles Lowell, Howard Nelson, John Peters, Keith Thornton and Edward Allen.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with coffee and doughnuts served afterwards. Mesdames Thornton, Peters and Hill have designed a center display to represent the Lafayette Juniors at the luncheon which will be served at the Tracy Inn.

Mrs. Hosking, junior president, has announced that the philanthropic project for the coming year will be the Contra Costa County Juvenile Home. The Juniors will assist in various programs for the welfare of the children.

Women's Club Plans Many Activities

The Women's Club of Walnut Creek has many plans for the coming weeks.

The Book Section will meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Clubhouse. Mrs. E. E. Edwards of Sebastopol, a former member and past president of the club, will give a book review. Mrs. O. E. Boslar is chairman and Mrs. L. L. West is co-chairman.

On the afternoon of the same day, the Art and Garden Section will meet at 12:30 at the clubhouse. From there they will go to the Kaiser Building Cafeteria for lunch.

A tour of the chrysanthemum gardens at Lakeside Park, Oakland, will follow. Mrs. Peter Jarrett is chairman and Mrs. W. R. Winifree, co-chairman.

Thursday at 1 p.m. a fashion show at the clubhouse will be presented by the ways and means committee. Proceeds will go into the scholarship fund. Committee members are Mesdames Charles Dennis, Peter Jarrett and Robert Nelson.

Mary Dorr To Present Bookalogue

Radio - television personality and lecturer, Mary Dorr, formerly of radio station KRE in Berkeley, will give her annual "Bookalogue" to members and guests of Linden Junior Branch, Children's Hospital of the East Bay, on October 26.

The eagerly awaited event will be held at the Veterans' Memorial Building in Piedmont, with a salad luncheon preceding at noon.

Mrs. Victor Graber of Orinda, who is chairman of arrangements announces that the title of the novel Mrs. Dorr will review, as usual, will remain a surprise. Mrs. Dorr uses an unusual technique in her presentations, giving not only a review of the book, but a personal dramatic account of its story as well.

A former resdent of Orinda, Mrs. Dorr, her husband and three children now make their home in Malibu. She flies her own plane to keep her many state-wide speaking engagements. She is a former chairman of Linden Jr. Branch and maintains an associate membership in the branch.

Assisting Mrs. Graber as co-chairman is Mrs. Diane Threlfall of Oakland. Other committee heads are Mesdames Irving Moore of Orinda, decorations; James Gliozzi of Lafayette, prizes; William Russell of Lafayette, luncheon arrangements, and William Egan of Walnut Creek, who is talking reservations at YEllowstone 4-3451.

Proceeds from the "Bookalogue" will benefit the part-pay program at Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Towhee Plans Harvest Time Tea

Even the gardens celebrate the beautiful coming Autumn and the Towhees of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center are celebrating a new and different way. They are presenting their first Harvest Time Tea and Fashion Show at the Mt. Diablo Country Club on November 1, 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Everyone who has enjoyed "Towhee Tinsel Time" in past years will find that although the season has been changed, the excellence of displays, decorations and refreshments has been maintained.

An informal autumn fashion show will also be a new addition, with fashions from Joseph Magnin.

Mrs. Lewis Brantley, chairman of displays, announced that there will be more than twenty participants. They will include Mesdames Jack Skinner, Flickers; C. Franklin, Flamingos; Rigney Greathouse, Pandora Children's Tome; Noel Gaubert, Walnut Creek Garden Club; Barbara Joice, Walnut Creek Juniors; Jack Grant and Les Malloy, Tenaya-John Muir; Mary Mell, Wawona Guild-John Muir; Greagmile, Tanagers; C. D. Burks, Tioga-John Muir; Richard Ormsby, Humpty Dumpty - Children's Home; George Hartwig, Sierra Guild-John Muir; Ted Ward, Suburbanettes, Walnut Creek.

Nan Rush, Pittsburg; John Cline, Suburban Womens Club; Ruth Brown, Danville Junior Womens Club; Mesdames Rosemary Chambers, Cooperative Art Association; Donald Coffin, Diablo Junior Museum; Frank Stricker, Keweah-John Muir; Richard Bishop, Swallows; Ted Schroeder, Linnet Juniors; Jack Sly, Hummingbirds.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. F. M. Hair of Walnut Creek. The fashion show is being handled by Mrs. George Monheit and Mrs. Charles Rodier.

Decorations chairman is Mrs. Norman Betaque. Refreshments are being handled by Mrs. W. C. McLaren and Mrs. Rix Maurer Jr. Tickets are available through Mrs. Samuel Bradbard, YEllowstone 4-3356.

Area's Olympic Swimmers Will Have Dinner Tuesday

By ERWIN MATTSON

Next Tuesday is a red letter day for sport fans as the three local Olympic Game swimmers are given a banquet honoring them at the Red Mill.

I list them in alphabetical order as Donna DeVarona, Carolyn Schuler and George Harrison.

Donna, from Lafayette, was the youngest United States team member at 13, and swam on the relay team in the trials. Carolyn Schuler was a two-time gold medal winner, while George Harrison was on the team for the second time.

Space forbids going into detail regarding the trio's many accomplishments here, but suffice it to say that they are three fine performers who brought honor and prestige to the local area, not only for their games performance, but more important, for their personal actions before, during and after the games.

Those fortunate enough to get tickets and attend will find three fine examples of youth that accent the positive. I haven't checked, but I doubt if any other one high school district produced three Olympic performers in any given year.

It's hats off to the trio and to the Chambers of Commerce of Lafayette and Orinda for sponsoring the event.

The thing that strikes me as I look over the football records to date, is how few teams ever have an undefeated season. The only one I know of in the Contra Costa or Foothill League on a varsity basis is Pittsburg, who have played but two games to everyone else's three and four.

It is very difficult, as any coach knows, to keep a team up game after game. Usually a team reaches a peak or two and at the most three of an eight-game schedule.

The champion is usually the one that reaches the peak when they need it and still have enough to win whenever they hit a low.

Different individuals will reach a high in different games, but to get all eleven at their best in any one game is far more difficult than one would guess unless they have had actual coaching experience.

Players are at their best when they are "hungry" for a win. Victory, like a full meal, often appeases the appetite to such an extent that the desire is lost or at least diminished.

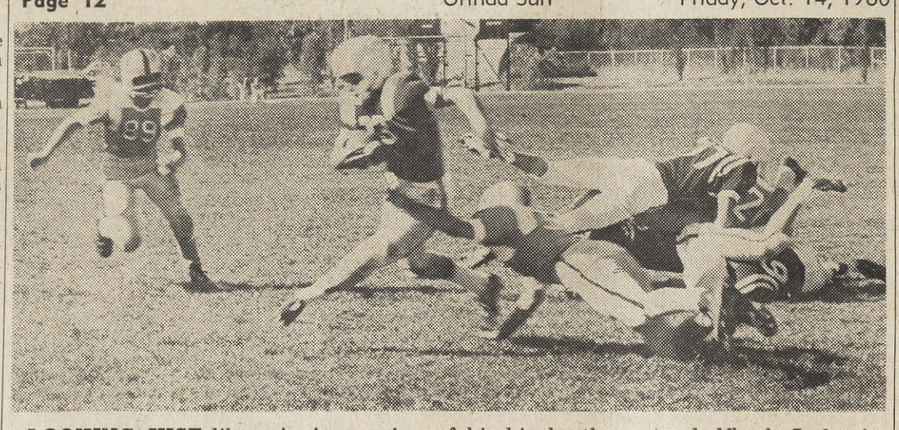
A good team is always most dangerous after they have played down from their best, or lost due to bad breaks. They are "ripest for picking" after winning, particularly in an easy game, and the more they win, the greater the chance that same underdog team can knock them over.

On the subject of football, one of the best small players here about in a long time is the Pleasant Hill Rams' swift but small halfback, Dave Moore.

Moore, a regular halfback at 124 pounds, has been a standout, and it was he who broke Piedmont's back with a long scoring run for an upset win. He is a fine and tough small athlete and is a top notch wrestler. This has helped him no end in football because he has learned how to fall and take care of himself in body contact.

He was undefeated in wrestling up to the North Coast meet last year, when a respiratory allergy laid him low.

Look for him to be a North Coast champ this year. It's good to see one with the fire and determination that he has which enables him to make first string on the Rams' varsity football team and more than hold his own against players, some of whom are almost twice his size.



LOOKING JUST like a junior version of his big brother—star halfback Jack of the Oakland Raiders—even down to the number (23), Dick Larscheid breaks away from two LaMorinda Thunderbird tacklers to score for the Contra Costa Pioneers in Sunday's Pop Warner League feature at Orinda. Larscheid led the Pioneers to a 32-7 win over the game Thunderbirds. All of the football-playing Larscheid brothers are from Pleasant Hill. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Pioneers Drop Thunderbirds in 2nd Half Rout

The LaMorinda Thunderbirds put up a good first half in their game with the Contra Costa Pioneers Sunday before going down, 32-7.

It was a nip and tuck first half as the Thunderbirds scored when Rick Maccario raced off tackle and cut to the right for a scoring run from mid-field and then carried over the conversion try to make the seventh point.

The Pioneers hit earlier when Dick Larscheid got off a long run on a reverse good for 65 yards but missed an attempted conversion kick.

The Thunderbirds held on for the first half and held a 7-6 lead with less than 30 seconds on the clock.

For some strange reason the Thunderbirds called time and it proved to be their downfall as the Pioneers scored with Dick Larscheid again doing the toting and a pass play made it 13-7 on the conversion.

The game turned into a rout in the second half only when the Morindans had passes intercepted in a desperate bid to come from behind.

The game played before a good crowd in Orinda on a very windy day was highlighted by the Weldonian marching band along with the crowning of Sue Brown, pert and pretty Miramonte coed, as queen in a colorful halftime ceremony with Joe Dame doing the honors.

Olde Prof Soss Is Still Trying to Find Winners

By SOSS OPPLE

The Olde Professor like everyone else, has been waiting, for the opening of league play, and it gets under way in the Foothill, Contra Costa and East Bay leagues today.

Going away out on that limb, the prof wipes off the crystal ball and comes up with the following predictions:

PIEDMONT TO nail Las Lomas as their superior experience and speed gives them a convincing 27-0 win. Piedmont speed in the backfield will decide the issue.

Acalanes plays at Miramonte this afternoon and its closer than most think. The Don machine has run smooth at times and sputtered at other times, particularly on the defensive side.

The Matadors are hungry and their second win in three years of varsity play over Albany in their last outing has only whetted their appetite. TAG THE DONS, 13-12.

San Ramon wins their first at Martinez as they edge Alhambra's Bulldog eleven that appears not to have too much of a bite. IT'S SAN RAMON, 13-7.

In the Contra Costa League, Pacifica looks formidable, but somehow IT LOOKS LIKE THE RAMS, who are a fighting crew. The score: 19-13.

Pittsburg beats Clayton Valley, who have had their ups and downs. Pitt is the only undefeated team in the circuit and they are hungry. THE SCORE, PITT 27, CLAYTON VALLEY 12.

MT. DIABLO HOSTS AND WHIPS ANTIOCH. The Concord Red Devils (Diablo) have a fine, well balanced club that could wind up winning it all. The score Diablo, smelling another pennant as defending champ, rolls to a 27-7 win.

In the pro games, THE OAKLAND RAIDERS, WHO ARE DEVELOPING, LOSE TO THE BOSTON PATRIOTS, 21-19. The Raiders are having troubles and lots of them—internally. There has been a lot of dissension among owners, coaches and other personnel connected with the club.

This has been hushed up, but the pot has been boiling over ever since the season started. Gene Perry, publicity man, resigned this week. Look for more to come.

The 49ers meet an old and not too tough Chicago Bear, which they defeat, 27-20.

In college circles it's U.S.C. 27-CAL 7. The Bears will hold well the first half, then get caught short.

Stanford finds someone they can beat and SAN JOSE GOES DOWN, 20-7 .

San Francisco State, upended last week, comes back TO DEFEAT LOS ANGELES STATE COLLEGE, 14-6.

In the east, PENN DEFEATS BROWN, 20-13, while Princeton has a workout on the light side as THEY DEFEAT ONCE MIGHTY COLGATE, 27-0.

Michigan State is favored over Notre Dame, but here is the upset of the week. NOTRE DAME 14, MICHIGAN STATE 6.

Washington rates over BUT IS UPSET BY U.C.L.A., the dark horse of the league, 20-14.

Bonus pick: The world series found the Yanks in a position of having to win two games in a row if they are to win the World Series. (Written Wednesday morning—early.)

The Yanks have far superior all around material and what is rated by many as the game's greatest manager is Casey Stengel. The surprise to date has been the showing of the Pirates against such superior odds. Look for the Yanks to win it all as they wield heavy bats and use superior strategy, to win, 14-2 and 12-1.

P.S. Stengel will prove his greatness by sending part of the winners' payoff to their farm club —good old K.C.—so sez Cliff DeLauer.

Dons, Matadors Clash In Opener This Afternoon

Coaches, players and fans alike were looking forward to the Foothill League opener which officially gets under way this afternoon when Acalanes and Miramonte, arch rivals, meet head on at the Orinda field with the opening kickoff at 3:30 p.m.

Coach Bob Brooks of Miramonte drew a bye last week and has put in two full weeks of heavy drills for this one. The Mats dropped Albany in their last outing and the victory is reported to be just the necessary tonic for Miramonte's eleven to come into the opener higher than a kite.

THE MAT'S big threat appears to be a passing game with their split and formation. Bill Hilger, new at the quarterback spot, has come fast and his big target will no doubt be Jack Gilbert, a six-foot, five-inch end who has done a good job of grabbing the pigskin out of the air.

In other practice games to date, Clayton Valley routed the Mats after an even-steven game for three quarters, 25-0. In their other practice tilt, it was down to the wire before Pacifica won, 13-7.

The Acalanes Dons in practice tilts started with a bang as they edged a strong Pleasant Hill eleven, 14-12, then were colled off by Mt. Dablo, 27-14, and bounced back to defeat the Clayton Valley Eagles, 12-6.

THE DONS have run hot and cold all season long, and as Coach Bob Stevens put it, much depends on how much they get themselves up for the game.

The Dons have speed plus in Chris Rinne, Stew Fox, Dennis Money, Tony LaRosa and Tom Strain. The line is big and adequate and on paper look to be ready.

The game will be decided on the field, however, and not on paper, so a good crowd is expected to see just what will happen.

Highlanders Are Favored to Beat Knights Tonight

The Piedmont Highlanders, sometimes referred to as the Clan, come to Walnut Creek tonight to try their luck with the Las Lomas Knights in an 8 p.m. game.

Piedmont, the defending champions, find themselves in the favorite's role again, and the "dopesters" figure them to win over a Las Lomas eleven whose only bright spot to date was an upset win over Mt. Diablo, 13-12, played two weeks ago.

THE KNIGHTS drew a bye last week and Coach Duane Louis has been busy with personnel changes and getting his offense and defensive units ready for the league opener.

The Knights earlier lost a 6-0 decision to Pleasant Hill and then were spilled by Clayton Valley, 6-0, in their last outing.

The Knights have enough weight up forward to match the Clan, but lack the all around experience.

The backfield really gives Piedmont the edge, particularly in the speed and experience department.

IN EARLIER games, Piedmont tripped Washington of San Francisco, 19-7, before being tripped themselves by Pleasant Hill, 14-13. Last week they wound up non-league play with a 20-19 win over Burlingame.

In all three games the Clan has held a big edge statistic-wise—far greater than the scores would indicate. Coach Bob Muenter feels his charges are due to break loose and this may be the time with the pressure of the opener turning the trick.

The Knights' head mentor Duane Louis has a big rebuilding job with graduation and transferring students hitting him hard.

Vikings Look for Second Straight League Victory

The Diablo Valley College Vikings hope to gain their second league victory in many starts when they travel to Salinas tomorrow night for an 8 p.m. engagement with the powerful Hartnell College Panthers.

The Viks will meet a Hartnell squad that is undefeated in all three of its games this year. DVC Coach Sam DeVito said today that they showed a very strong running attack in their 26-6 coast conference victory over Vallejo last Friday.

LAST SATURDAY it was the passing and running of reserve quarterback Dorris Oakley of Pittsburg which sparked the Vikings to a 14-9 victory over Foothill College Owls of Mountain View.

Oakley entered the game midway through the second period after number one signal caller Steve Wilcox twisted his right ankle. Oakley immediately showed that he could move the team, as he engineered a 53-yard drive to the Foothill 10, before a 15 yard clipping penalty halted the Vikings' progress and the Owls took over on downs.

Diablo Valley received the second half kick off, but fumbled two plays later on their own 29 yard line, setting up Foothill's first score. After seven plays left them with a fourth down and two on the DVC 10 yard line, Foothill's, Frank Aquina, kicked a field goal.

FOOTHILL'S KICK OFF following the field goal, went to speedy Vik halfback Mel Carone of Martinez, who returned it 23 yards to the DVC 33. Eight plays later Oakley ran the ball into the zone from three yards out for six points. Oakley passed to end Jim Gonsalves for the two point conversion.

After they received the Vikings kick off, and couldn't move the ball, Owl fullback, Doug Castle, quickly kicked 65 yards to the DVC eight. A 15 yard penalty for roughing the passer gave the Viks first and 10 on the 23, and six plays later they had moved to the mid field stripe.

It was at this point, with only 27 seconds remaining in the third period, that right half Ben Shorum shook off three tacklers and scampered 50 yards right up the middle to pay dirt. Hal Shanks attempted run for the point after touchdown was no good.

DVC HEAD COACH Sam DeVito thought his team played a very consistent game particularly after they jelled in the second quarter.

He was pleased with the running of Shanks, Shorum, and fullback Bill Davis of Walnut Creek. End John Rogers also received tribute for this fine game on both offense and defense.

DeVito cited Oakley for a tremendous come through performance, as this was the first time he has played any offense for the Vikings.

Last week's victory was the Vikings' first home win since 1957, and it was their first league victory since DeVito became head coach last year.

Rams Play Pacifica at Pleasant Hill Tonight

The Pleasant Hill Rams play at home tonight but in reality their opponents, the Pacifica Spartans, will be the host school in the league openers as they are borrowing the Rams' lights, having none of their own.

The Pacifica eleven wasn't figured to have much, after losing heavily by graduation, but has come a long way since losing its opener to Tamalpais, 13-7.

SINCE THEN they have defeated Miramonte, Liberty of Brentwood and Friday pulled one of the season's upsets as they stopped Livermore's two-year win streak with an 18-14 set back.

The Rams have also been a surprise team as they pulled the season's first surprise by edging Las Lomas, 6-0, then losing to Acalanes in a close one, 14-12, and putting on a real exhibition of drive as they nailed heavily favored Piedmont, 14-13, and Friday they stopped Fremont High of Oakland, 19-0.

The Rams lineup as released for tonight by Coach Hal Briggs, finds three juniors and eight seniors getting the starting call, as follows:

LEFT END, Terry Hughes, senior, 162; left tackle, Terry Schutten, senior, 176; left guard, Jack Snook, senior, 163; center, Roger Levy, senior, 185; right guard, Tom Tarantino, senior, 158; right tackle, Larry Schutten, senior, 173; right end, Dick Dole, senior, 222; quarterback, Archie Allison, senior, 141; left halfback, Jim Stephenson, junior, 142; fullback, Tom Foster, junior, 190; right halfback, Dave Moore, senior, 124.

The Pacifica lineup was unavailable at press time.

Other games on tap in the Contra Costa Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League finds all night games on tap with Antioch at Mt. Diablo, and Clayton Valley at Pittsburg.

All Contra Costa league varsity games are preceded by junior varsity games.

Five Game Slate Is on Tap for Foothill Teams

The Foothill League opens play today after a practice season behind them that found all teams in the circuit playing three games.

It is interesting to note that every team has suffered one or more defeats and all but San Ramon High of Danville have won one or more.

PIEDMONT and Acalanes rated as the pre-season favorites, find themselves opening league play with identical 2-1 win-loss records.

The Dons and the Piedmont Clan have both shown to advantage only to reverse themselves and play very "spotty" at times.

It still looks like the game between them should decide the championship issue, but as of now Piedmont as defending champs rate the edge in view of statistics which find them well ahead of all opponents to date by a far greater margin than the score would indicate.

LAS LOMAS and Miramonte have shown to advantage in spots with the Lomas Knights pulling one of the season's upsets as they dropped highly favored Mt. Diablo with a closing second touchdown for a thrilling, 13-12, win.

Miramonte never badly outclassed in any game, posted their win, after two losses, with a 13-7 score at Albany.

Alhambra, the circuit's newest entry, won their opener against John Swett of Crockett, then suffered setbacks at the hands of Castro Valley and Mt. Diablo.

San Ramon has yet to win, but with a new coach and a new system have improved each game to the point where they could upset somebody's applecart.

GAMES ON TAP today find one 3:30 p.m. tilt with Acalanes at Miramonte, while play is rounded out with 8 p.m. games when Piedmont plays at Las Lomas and Alhambra plays host to San Ramon.

All league games are set for 8 p.m. except Miramonte plays at home with 3:30 p.m. starting times.

The rest of the varsity schedule is as follows:

NEXT FRIDAY: San Ramon at Acalanes; Miramonte at Piedmont; and Alhambra at Las Lomas.

October 28: Las Lomas at Miramonte; Piedmont at San Ramon; Acalanes at Alhambra.

November 4: Acalanes at Piedmont; San Ramon at Las Lomas; Alhambra at Miramonte.

November 10: Miramonte at San Ramon; Las Lomas at Acalanes; and Piedmont at Alhambra.

Acalanes Upsets Eagles Record With 12-6 Win

The Acalanes Dons really looked to be on their way Friday night when they scored 12 points to lead, 12-0, in the opening quarter, but found themselves in a dog fight before eking out a 12-0 win over the Clayton Valley Eagles who, up to Friday, were undefeated, having dropped Miramonte, San Ramon and Las Lomas of the Foothill League.

The Dons' first touchdown came when center Jeff Picard blocked a Clayton Valley punt, which gave the Dons possession on the Clayton Valley 27. The fourth down saw Acalanes back on the 30, only to have Tom Strain fire a 30-yard pass to halfback Chris Rinne.

LATER IN the quarter Don Dough Nichols pounced on a fumble which put Acalanes in the driver's seat on Clayton Valley's 38.

Rinne once again got in the scoring act, taking a pass from Strain with the play, with the touchdown coming from 14 yards out.

The Dons failed to convert as one of Strain's conversion kicks was blocked and the other wide.

THE DONS held Clayton Valley after the kickoff and the Acalanes eleven appeared to be in for a big night as they drove 40 yards for a first and 10 on the Eagles' six, only to throw a flat pass which Clayton Valley's Bobby Toone picked off and went 90 yards untouched to score.

The score was 12-6 at the half and wound up that way, as the Dons hung on with a pair of pass interceptions to stall Clayton Valley drives deep into Acalanes territory.

Piedmont, Mt. Diablo May Repeat as Champions

The league football season gets underway today as far as the local preps are concerned, and in many ways it looks to be a well balanced race in the Foothill and Contra Costa leagues, while in the Eastbay circuit it still looks to be Livermore, who rolled through the league last year despite the fact Pacifica upset them, 18-14, Friday night.

In Foothill play, the Piedmont Highlanders loom as the favorites, with a veteran squad on hand, plus the fact they are defending champions.

Piedmont looks strong offensively, but could have problems in the defensive department as they have been scored upon in every game while winning two and losing one.

THE ACALANES Dons are rated as the club with the best chance to upset Piedmont, but also lack consistency as they show flashes of brilliance only to fade in crucial spots, and as yet have not found the consistency necessary for championship play.

Las Lomas has been slow in coming and look to be down from their usual standard of play. They were opportunists as they upset Diablo, only to lose to Pleasant Hill and Clayton Valley in their other two outings.

The Knights have size but lack real speed, and as a result are handicapped in their all around play.

SAN RAMON and Alhambra are having problems with green material for the most part, plus new coaches and new systems. They both figure to develop and improve with each game, but rate as spoilers rather than pennant contenders.

Miramonte has played consistent and good ball, only to fade in the late stages due to scant depth. Their improvement has been steady and consistent after a slow start, and with a good day at home or at night away could upset the dope bucket but good in any single game.

The consensus gives Piedmont the edge, Acalanes second, Miramonte and Las Lomas tied for third, with the winner of the Alhambra-San Ramon game fourth and the loser in the cellar.

IN THE Contra Costa League, Mt. Diablo as defending champ rates the number one spot, with Pleasant Hill a surprise second, Pittsburg a mad third and Pacifica fourth, edging Clayton Valley who outplay Antioch to stay out of the cellar.

In the Eastbay, Livermore's size and resulting reserve strength rates them the top spot, with Liberty of Brentwood second, Albany third and Amador in the deep, dank, dark cellar as John Swett winds up in the fourth spot.

San Ramon, Miramonte Lead JVs

San Ramon and Miramonte played their third league game yesterday, too late for results to be recorded, but up to this week they were leading the standings as both sported a pair of wins in their two league outings to date.

Miramonte toppled Acalanes in the opener September 29, 14-0, while San Ramon racked Alhambra, 32-6, and Las Lomas spilled Piedmont, 14-6.

Last Thursday's play saw Acalanes-Piedmont rained out while San Ramon poster win number two as they edged Las Lomas, 13-12, while Miramonte came from behind as they trailed, 12-0, with six miutes to go, to win, 18-12.

YESTERDAY'S games were scheduled as follows: Acalanes at San Ramon, Piedmont at Dell Valle; Las Lomas at Alhambra.

The rest of the schedule, with 3:30 p.m. starting times, as released: Thursday, San Ramon at Del Valle, Acalanes at Alhambra, Piedmont at Miramonte.

October 27, Alhambra at Del Valle, San Ramon at Miramonte, Acalanes at Las Lomas.

November 3, Miramonte at Alhambra, Del Valle at Las Lomas, San Ramon at Piedmont.

November 9, Miramonte at Las Lomas, Alhambra at Piedmont, Del Valle at Acalanes.

THE RAINED out Acalanes Frosh play to date finds Las J.V. and frosh games have been set for November 14.

Lomas with wins over Piedmont a one win record, Piedmont and and San Ramon, San Ramon with Alhambra with one loss, no win records, while Acalanes had one no losses. Last week's frosh scores found Miramonte upsetting Del Valle, 14-7, while Las Lomas edged San Ramon, 6-0.

Yesterday's games were scheduled with San Ramon at Acalanes, Del Valle at Piedmont, and Alhambra at Las Lomas. The rest of the schedule is identical to the J.V. games with the home team reversed.

All J.V. and frosh games are set for 3:30 p.m. starting times.

Drag Group Hears Speaker

Irv Bacigalupo spoke at a recent meeting of the Diablo Drag Association.

He discussed methods by which the club members might obtain land for the planned drag strip.

Jayvees, Varsity Win Pair for Pleasant Hill

The Pleasant Hill Rams had a big night Friday when the junior varsity opened its league schedule, in a come-through performance, with a 6-0 win over favored College Park and the varsity followed suit as they racked visiting Fremont of Oakland, 19-0.

The varsity visitors started fast and appeared to be on their way early in the game when they started at midfield and drove to the Rams' nine before being stopped.

Fullback Tom Foster carried the ball 18 yards in three carries and halfback Bob Kunselman went the final 75 yards on an off tackle slant.

Fremont Tigers drove deep into Ram territory on the next series only to stall and have the Rams put on an 80-yard march of their own to be climaxed when Foster cracked the middle for the final two yards.

The conversion try failed, as had the first one, and it was 12-0 at the half. The Rams took the second half kickoff and returned it beyond midfield, then took nine plays to cover the final 47 yards for touchdown number three, and this time a pass to big end Dick Dole from quarterback Nelson Shelton made it 19-0.

Both clubs threatened the rest of the way but neither club could hit the scoreboard as the Rams set their practice mark at three wins, as against a lone, 14-12, loss to the Acalanes Dons.

QUALITY YOU WILL FIND ONLY IN EXPENSIVE HOMES

All of us have been looking over this home market pretty thoroughly lately and it seems that anybody can advertise just about the same things, feature-wise. Like electric kitchens, family rooms, 3 bedrooms and so on. You name them, they've got 'em. So have we.
But what we have found out is that most don't have quality construction. We have! And you have the advantage of FHA financing.
Come and look our houses over . . . and compare. We think you will buy ours . . .

Work Shop on Mental Health Aids Relatives

A work shop designed to present information concerning resources in the field of mental health in Contra Costa County was held yesterday at the Pleasant Hill Elementary School, Oak Park Boulevard and Pleasant Hill Road, Pleasant Hill.

B. O. Wilson, president of Central Contra Costa Mental Health Association, one of the sponsoring agencies, emphasized that the Work Shop provides a unique opportunity for members of the Community to acquaint themselves with available resources.

Subject matter will be presented for the families and friends of the mentally ill, those who act as advisors and professional people.

Individuals who attend will also have an opportunity to meet with the resource people in small groups. There will be a question and answer period.

Hi-Fashion Makes Third Local Move

The third expansios within two years has placed Hi-Fashion Fabrics, Lafayette's own fabrics and yardage goods store, in modern new surroundings at the new LaFiesta Square Building on the west side of Hough Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Reckas, proprietors of the store, said the roominess and pleasant atmosphere of the new location will help them to increase their services of "individually helping people to dress for the occasion."

RECKAS has installed a number of mannequins in the new store so that shoppers will have a better idea of what each fabric will look like once it is made into a dress, gown or suit.

In addition, Reckas and his wife, both of whom have had wide experience in the designing field, are prepared to help persons individually design their own clothes and to tailor the garment to a specific occasion, if desired.

Quiet music is piped in continuously to help create an informal atmosphere at the new location, which gives Hi-Fashion Fabrics a little more than twice the floor space of the older store in the original shopping area.

THE RECKAS have an older Hi-Fashion Fabrics shop located in Albany. They first moved their business into the Lafafette area about two years ago.

Mrs. Reckas has taught sewing for 18 years, and now is with the Albany Unified School District. Once a year she travels to New York to purchase the latest and finest fabrics so that the local store will keep up-to-date in the field.

According to her husband, Mrs. Reckas is a designer in her own right, having drawn patterns for bridal parties, evening dresses and other garments.

Reckas was with the Pasadena Playhouse as a costume designer for a number of years, and also produced plays for the Berkeley Playmakers.

One more added attraction resulting from the move of Hi-Fashion Fabrics is the lighting of the 200-year-old large oak tree on Hough Avenue. The tree, which overlooks the new store, is lit nightly by Reckas, and provides an intriguing sight.

EXPANSION TO a second store in Danville and an eighth anniversary at LaFiesta Square are the celebrations in store tonight for Sutton's Shoes. Here, owners Marge and Orvall Sutton look on while Al Nye (right), manager of the new Danville store, fits his daughter, Lorrie, with a pair of shoes. —Sun photo by Mattson.

BETTER SERVICE will be provided in the new, much larger building of the Hobby Hut, a LaFiesta Square shop which specializes in everything for the hobby enthusiast. The store, owned by two young married couples, is about four years old. Here, one of the owners, Larry Swanson, shows a new model plane to Richard and Mike Swanson (no relation). —Sun photo by Mattson.

Chairman Issues Assn. Statement

On behalf of all the merchants in the LaFiesta Merchants Association, Mrs. Elizabeth Worswick, grand opening chairman, issued the following statement this week:

"It is with the greatest pleasure that we are celebrating our eighth anniversary of the LaFiesta Shopping Center in this manner—a major expansion of business for Lafayette.

"We feel, over a long period of service to our community, a real responsibility toward Lafayette and our customers. This expansion is a definite expression of that responsibility.

"We shall continue to do our best to bring to our community the finest goods and services within our power.

"We merchants of LaFiesta Shopping Center will carry on in the same way, to do our part in making Lafayette the very finest community in which to live and do business."

Come See Lafayette's Newest Shopping Center — LaFiesta Square

Department Store Has More Space, Better Facilities

The Emporium, Lafayette's own department store, will celebrate its grand opening Friday night in a new location at the new modern addition to the LaFiesta Shopping Center.

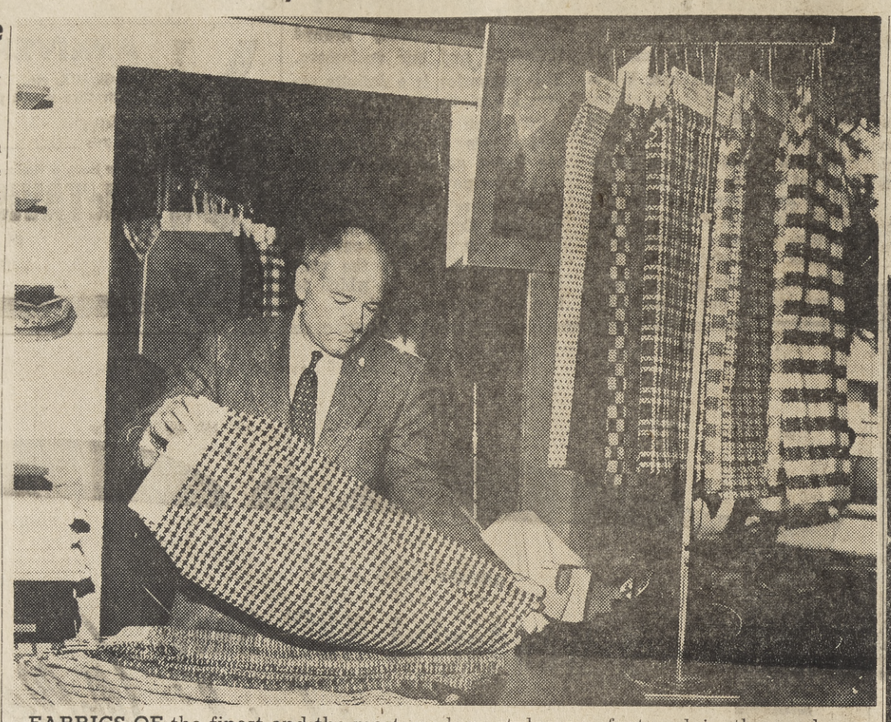
The store was founded 22 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters, who were on hand this week to take part in the opening ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fredman and Victor Aleshin are present owners of The Emporium.

Fredman and Aleshin assumed ownership of the store from Lou Borghesani in 1949, two years after Borghesani had purchased it from the Peters.

Original location of the store was on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, the front part of the store from which The Emporium moved this week. In 1952, the Hough Avenue store adjacent to the original quarters was acquired.

The new location in a modern, open-beamed ceiling building is 50 per cent larger in floor area than the old store and it is equipped with air conditioning and effective lighting facilities.

Fredman said the suburban-styled store is laid out to make shopping as convenient as possible. He added that the move represents not only an increase in floor space but a considerable increase in merchandise selection for the customer.



FABRICS OF the finest and the most modern styles are featured in the modern, new and larger Hi-Fashion Fabrics in the new building of LaFiesta Square. Nick Reckas, owner of the store who is shown here with some of the fabric styles available, plans a gala grand opening celebration for tonight.

Area Folk Singer Will Entertain At Store Opening

Charlotte Butler, folk song specialist from Berkeley, will sing at Friday night's grand opening celebration of Hi-Fashion Fabrics in the new LaFiesta Square building.

Mrs. Butler has a large repertoire of folk songs, began singing at the age of two years and has collected some of her songs from elder members of her family who were folk singers in Virginia and Georgia.

During the past summer, Mrs. Butler was employed by the Albany Recreation Department to teach children on the three playgrounds some of her folk songs. She has performed a similar service for the City of Piedmont.

Mrs. Butler, a former Albany girl, sang in the a capella choir at Albany High School, under the direction of Stephen Lanmer. She was graduated from Santa Rosa High School as valedictorian and was awarded a scholarship to Santa Rosa Junior College.

In the summer of 1955 Mrs. Butler won second place in the Horace Heidt Show in Ukiah. Since then she has lived in the East Bay and has given a four-month volunteer weekly program at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

Thrifty Sun Class Ads appear in five papers for one tiny price.

Sutton's Has Two Stores to Serve Area Shoe Needs

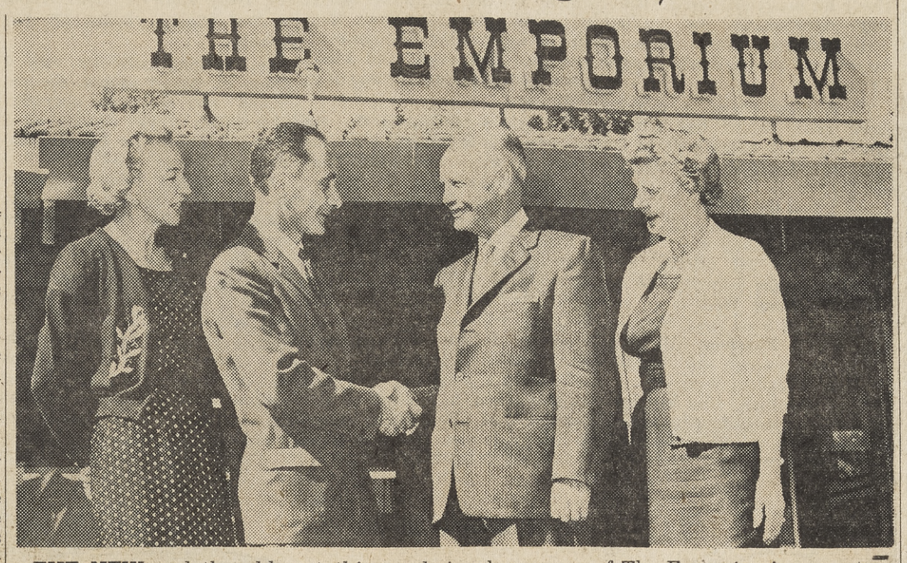
Sutton's Shoes, for nearly 14 years a tradition in Lafayette in the field of shoes and shoe repairing for the entire family, is celebrating two great events this week.

In addition to marking his eighth anniversary as part of the LaFiesta Shopping Center, Orvall Sutton, owner of the shoe store, is celebrating the official grand opening of his new Danville store.

Sutton, who also serves as president of the LaFiesta Merchants Association, opened the Danville shop at 255 North Hartz Avenue about two months ago, but his grand opening is being held Friday in conjunction with the LaFiesta festivities.

The Danville store is located where the Danville Bootery formerly was.

Sutton has been in the retail shoe business in Lafayette for more than 13 years, opening his first store on Plaza Way. The move to the LaFiesta area was made when the original shopping center was constructed in 1952.



THE NEW and the old met this week in observance of The Emporium's move to larger, more modern quarters in the new building of LaFiesta Square. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters (right), founders of the department store in 1937, congratulate the present proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fredman.—Sun photo by Mattson.

BRAINS BEHIND the unique decor and sales philosophy of the Shoe Stable, which opens its second store in Lafayette this week, are owned by Charles Carson (left), local store manager, and John May, his partner who manages the original Shoe Stable in Danville. The new store on Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Hough Avenue is decorated in an old century motif, just as is the older store, which was founded in 1958. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Young GOP Group Meets Tomorrow

A meeting of the Young Republicans of the Orinda-Moraga area will be held tomorrow. The third Nixon-Kennedy debate will be televised from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

Following the telecast a discussion on the farm problem will be given by Carolyn Blesh and Russ Lapham.

Refreshments will be served.

The meeting will be held at the Oak Springs Club house.

Shoe Stable's Unique Decor Now in Lafayette

The yrand opening of the second Shoe Stable, located at 3545 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, will be held in conjunction with the gala LaFiesta Square celebration Friday.

The idea for the creation of the Shoe Stable came to John May while he was traveling the West Coast as a salesman for a prominent line of women's fashion shoes.

HE INTRODUCED the philosophy of "young shoes for all ages" in 1958, in the original Shoe Stable, which he will continue to operate at 156 Diablo Road in Danville.

Attempting to embody in this store the outstanding features of all of the stores he had visited during the years of his traveling, May located the first store in a cluster of walnut trees, in an old house remodeled into a unique shop.

At the side of the store is a corral occupied by Suzie, a pinto mare who has become the personality of the Shoe Stable and whose picture appears in all of the stores' advertising materials.

THE OLD CENTURY decor of the Shoe Stable with its distinctive shoes carefully selected for all age groups in the area and its relaxed sales atmosphere, enjoyed immediate acceptance.

While a corral with a pinto mare couldn't be worked out on either Mt. Diablo Boulevard or Hough Avenue, the other features of the Shoe Stable philosophy will be embodied in the Lafayette store, according to May and Charles Carson, his partner.

The Lafayette store will be managed by Carson, former sales manager for a manufacturer of women's shoes and business associate of May's for many years.

The store opened yesterday, with the men's and boys' den entrance at 994 Hough Avenue.

City Would Double Size; Alamo 'City' Overlaps

Despite its other annexation difficulties, the City of Walnut Creek may grow to twice its present size with the inclusion in January of the famous "Dollar Ranch", covering some 2200 acres in the Tice Valley area.

Councilmen Wednesday night received a petition of annexation filed earlier in the day and signed by Esther J. Dollar, Diana Dollar Hickingbotham and R. Stanley Dollar, Jr., members of the family of the late shipping magnate, whose company offices are in San Francisco.

The Dollar Ranch is well known for the home built by Stanley Dollar, Sr., in the midst of his large estate.

POLITICAL and social gatherings there have been prominent.

The Dollars several years ago had received clearance approval from the County Boundary Commission, making possible the immediate submission of the petition without warning.

Rumors of the pending filing of the annexation petition had been rife for several months. But observers noted that it follows close on the heels of the filing in the county of a petition for the incorporation of Alamo.

Significantly, there is a considerable overlapping of the Alamo incorporation boundaries, which follow the Alamo School District borders, and the Dollar Ranch boundaries, which extend as far south as the hills which lie to the west of the Alamo community as it now stands.

CITY COUNCILMEN and their staff members were discussing the legalities of such a conflict as The Sun went to press.

The Dollar Ranch petition, labeled "Southern Annexation No. 15," will go to public hearing of protest November 16.

Since the area is considered uninhabited, having less than 12 registered property owners living within, it can be annexed without an election. No protests are anticipated.

THIRD IN a family of local fashion shops for all ages, The Wishing Well will hold its grand opening celebration in LaFiesta Square tonight. The Wishing Well is the only exclusively pre-teen shop in the entire Bay Area. This and the other two stores—Shoo-Time Shopping and Fiesta Fashions—are owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Worswick (right). Manager of the new store is Katherine Townsend. —Sun photo by Mattson.

New Wishing Well Is for Pre-Teeners Exclusively

The only clothing store exclusively for pre-teeners in the entire Bay Area—that's the Wishing Well, which celebrates its grand opening in the LaFiesta Square Friday.

Third member of a clothing store group which has already received wide acceptance in Lafayette and adjacent areas, the Wishing Well is located at the south end of the LaFiesta parking lot behind—you guessed it—the little brick wishing well.

DESIGNED TO SERVE boys and girls in the 9 through 14 age group, Wishing Well is a new expansion of Shoo-Time Shopping and Fiesta Fashions. All three stores are owned and operated by Mrs. Elizabeth Worswick.

Mrs. Worswick, who has been in business in Lafayette a total of nine years, is serving as chairman of the grand opening committee of the LaFiesta Square this week. Her Shoo-Time Shopping is celebrating its eighth anniversary this week, and Fiesta Fashions is marking the end of its sixth year.

She said a realization that the pre-teener is becoming more and more important and needs more specialized attention in clothing caused her to expand her lines into the Wishing Well store.

FIESTA FASHIONS will continue to bring area women "the best values in the best fashions at the best time," and Shoo-Time Shopping will remain a specialty shop for infants and children, Mrs. Worswick explained.

Shoo-Time Shopping was first formed when a mother of five decided that all mothers should be better served. She had found that mothers don't have time to run from store to store trying to find quality clothes for her family.

So, working carefully with a group of skilled people, she designed and put into operation a traveling truck, serving as a store on wheels for infants, toddlers and young children.

IN A SHORT TIME, however, the business developed to the point where the truck was not enough, and the large store on Moraga Road in the LaFiesta Shopping Center was opened.

Taking their cue from the values and service at Shoo-Time Shopping, a group of Lafayette mothers approached Mrs. Worswick and convinced her of the need for a store which would carry clothes for themselves—fashions of trusted quality and value, sportswear and dresses, lingerie and accessories.

And so, just three short years after the first store on wheels was put into operation, Fiesta Fashions was born. It is located just down Moraga Road from Shoo-Time Shopping—still in the LaFiesta Square.

This week's opening of Wishing Well is an indication of Mrs. Worswick's ever-growing sense of responsibility toward providing the best possible service, values and quality for all of her customers — regardless of their age.

WIRE SOLDER USEFUL

When cutting duplicates of odd shaped objects, soft wire solder comes in handy. The pliable wire can be pressed over the object, conforming to the shape,

YARNS GALORE are on hand in the new location of the Brass Lantern in the new section of LaFiesta Square, one of the local stores celebrating their grand openings tonight. Owner Mrs. Rosemund Flynn looks over some of the yarns which have been stocked for this week's special celebration. The Brass Lantern was formerly located on Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Miramonte Mirror

Mats Team Scouts Dons And Hopes for Win Tonite

By TOM FERGUSON

Friday the Miramonte football team had a bye and therefore were able to scout the Acalanes team which they will meet tonight. After having defeated Albany, the Matadors have high hopes of defeating their big rivals, the Acalanes Dons. At a varsity football meeting last Monday, Coach Brooks said that lots of hustle and sincere desire would be key requisites in beating the Dons.

Freddie's Pizza Parlor was jammed after the game. Some of the Miramonte kids "going Italian'" were Mason Fries, Ray Aldrich, Bob Bowles, Dick Allen, Jonathan Jensen, Ted Brock and Bill Caldwell.

Doug Hudson formally announced in physiology class last week that Jan Miller could no longer use his baseball glove for P.E. Jan was so enraged that she threw her adipose tissue at Joanne Newkirk Hall. Doug said that Barbara Palintino would use his mitt from now on.

Miramonte's seniors feel about 60 pounds lighter now that the first senior problems test is over. The general feeling concerning the test was that it was somewhat difficult. In fact, it was a real "bear." Many kids studied like crazy and even then didn't get to the last page of the test. Oh, we sure hope they're not all that bad—don't we?

Friday evening a four man "fireside" was held at the home of the Carpenters. In attendance were Rick "Limpy" Layne, Bob "the Laugh" Carpenter, Pam "Grandma" Dermit, and just plain Sharon Croci. After the party broke up, Bob went to Limpy's house where he had planned to spend the night. Upon arriving at Limp Along's home, Bob found someone already sacked out in his "would be" bed. Sorry, Bob.

Wild Bill Carroll slept in the same bed the following night. Bill really pressed the panic button when he heard someone sneaking around in the bushes outside the window.

Queen Joyce Odenthal, King Bill Hilger, Cinda Snell, Tom Ferguson, Kathy Stafford and Dick Allen all had a big time in San Francisco Saturday night. When the group finally found the restaurant called "The Old Spaghetti Factory" after an hour's search, Dick's station wagon stalled on one of those San Francisco hills. That was all right though because the car was pushed into, and parked in, a man's driveway. Hope he didn't mind much. One can order anything at "The Old Spaghetti Factory" as long as it's spaghetti. Rumor has it that Cinda Snell tried to get Christopher Columbus' autograph up at Coit Tower. Some say that she almost pushed a lady off of the tower too! Better watch that, Cinda.

New Members Honored by Cubs

Orinda Cub Pack 57 inducted fifteen new members at the first pack meeting of the school year at Miramonte High School recently. Cubmaster Richard Bartle presented the President's Award and Jubilee patches to the pack members for group achievements during the past year.

New Cubs of Pack 57 are Thomas Wood, Lawrence Walsh, Curtis Hamm, Daniel Wells, Charles Millar, Carl Gregory, Ronald Purdy, Andy Klatt, David Quedins, Mark Grote, John Pagliew, Erik Swanson, Bob Blackmur, Gerald Perisho, Bruce Killian, Bennie Hosey and Michael Feurst.

Lion awards were won by Kent Madin and Jim Thomas.

Rick Kendall Is at Military Academy

Cadet Richard Young (Rick) Kendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Kendall of 113 Van Ripper Lane, recently left Orinda for Carlsbad, California, where he is in his first year of attendance at the Army and Navy Academy.

Army and Navy Academy is now entering its 50th year as one of the outstanding military schools in the West. Young Kendall was admitted only after successfully passing a series of tests which cover every facet of academic endeavor.

Misenar Will Be Bar President

Max M. Misenar of 11 Arroyo Drive, attorney advisor for the General Services Administration, has been elected president of the San Francisco chapter of the Federal Bar Association.

He and his fellow officers for the 1960-61 year will take office at the chapter's annual installation dinner at the Presidio of San Francisco Officers' Club tomorrow night.

Misenar served as first vice president this year for the group, which is composed of about 300 attorneys and judges presently or formerly engaged in legal work for the federal government.

Colonel Hudson Retires After Twenty Years

Lieutenant Colonel Roger W. Hudson, 92 Coral Drive, was retired from active duty in the U.S. Army after more than 20 years in the service at a ceremony at the Presidio of San Francisco recently.

At the time of his retirement, Col. Hudson was senior representative for the Department of the Army on the staff of the Combined Services Support Program with headquarters at the Naval Air Station, Alameda.

Col. Hudson and his wife, Jacqueline, have one daughter, Kimberly Jane, 4. They plan to continue to live in their Orinda home and Col. Hudson has joined the sales staff of the Beaver Realty Company.

He entered the Army in September, 1940, when the Oregon National Guard was federalized. He attended Officers' Training School at Brisbane, Australia, and was commissioned in the infantry in 1944.

The colonel served in New Guinea and the Philippine Islands during the war years and wears battle stars for five major campaigns on his Asiatic Pacific Theater ribbon.

In addition to his business activities, Col. Hulson plans to continue study for his AB degree at the University of California on a part time basis.

Orinda Girl Is Choir Member

Barbara Jackman, 250 Moraga Way, Orinda, has been selected as a member of the university choir at the College of Music, Willamette University, Salem, Oregon.

Miss Jackman is a junior at the university. The choir will be heard in campus chapels, at Christmas Vespers December 11 and in tours to cities of Oregon and Idaho.

Girl Scouts of Two Troops Have Weekend Events

A roaring fall start was made by Orinda Girl Scout Troops 107, under the leadership of Mesdames Hugh Reed and John Gilbert, and 204, under the leadership of Mrs. E. F. Winters, with the excitement of camp-outs.

Troop 107 spent Friday night at Twin Canyon with four mothers: The Mesdames John Gilbert, Warren Detloff, Quinten Thompson and Forest Petersen.

THE GIRLS cooked and ate dinner by lantern light. Skits and singing provided after-dinner entertainment before the girls and mothers crawled into their not-too-warm sleeping bags.

Girls in attendance included: Betty Lohse, Lee Anderson, Margie Titmus, Wendy Thompson, Carol Wagner, Pam Zerkle, Karen Detloff, Jean Lee, Margaret Fontaine, Susan Hart, Bevie Taylor, Connie McClure, Nancy Miller, Sandy Robinson, Rory Reed, Leslie Petersen, Joan Gilbert, Laurel Karsten and Susan Williams.

The Samuel Taylor Park in San Rafael was the camp site for Troop 204 for Friday and Saturday night, where the girls were Outdoors" requirement for their working on their "Fun in the first class rank.

GIRLS from Troop 204 in attendance were:

Linda Pankinen, Jill Winters, Carol Patterson, Ann Acton, Linda Lawler, Virginia Van Gelder, Barbara Cattolica, Barbara Gould, Patsy Stevensen.

And Valerie Smith, Murrey Parent, Debbie Hopper, Maureen Wiggan, Gwen Ried, Kathy Man, Laurie Winthers, Pam Kelley, Alberta Koch, Dana Miller, Chrissy O'Brien, Nancy Olsen, Donna Easterly and Donna Bertler.

New M.I.T. Student

Come to the Broadway Birthday Party!

Haystack Needles are Birthday Party 'Extra'

That something "extra" which every birthday party needs is the "Needle in the Haystack" event, October 21 and 22, during the Broadway Birthday Party.

Visitors in Broadway will dig out special needles in a giant haystack, located in front of the Lucky Store, according to George Webster, Broadway Merchants Association chairman.

Although the haystack feature is two days only, tickets may be obtained throughout the birthday celebration which begins Friday.

Only visitors who are over 16 years of age will be eligible to play the fascinating game, Webster noted.

"There will be a prize given away every minute and the top prize will be a stereophonic console," Webster declared.

The Broadway birthday party will also feature a performance by the famous Guckenheimer Sauerkraut German Concert Band Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and traditional birthday cake and refreshments will be served free of charge during the concert.

Free merry-go-round rides will also be featured during the birthday festival.

County Sewer District Viewed

A county-wide sanitation district to insure that future development of sewage facilities conform with the Contra Costa County master plan is contemplated by the Board of Supervisors.

Thomas McMorrow, county sanitarian, and Jack Port, head of the Public Works Department sewage, waste and water division, outlined the proposal.

It would require state legislative action.

The supervisors consideration of the new plan followed their dismissal of proceedings to form a County Sanitation District 10-A, in southern San Ramon Valley.

Protests representing at least 51 per cent of the property in the proposed district, were received.

The area concerned is just west of the Volk-McLain subdivision, which straddles the Alameda-Contrat Costa boundary line.

Board Chairman Mel Nielsen of Lafayette said he hopes the people in that area won't regret their opposition.

Landscaping in Small Garden Is Real Challenge

It's an ironic fact of modern living that while we have more and more leisure time in which to garden, most of our gardens get smaller and smaller. Seemingly, it might follow that garden problems are less than they once were; but in truth, it's just the opposite. Landscaping in a limited space is a real challenge.

The problem lies in trying not to do too much in too little space. Most of us tend to overplant even in large gardens. When we do this in small gardens, an inevitable mass of formless overgrowth results. In small spaces, gardening must be done on a modest scale.

We might begin by suggesting that uniformity—if that is the ultimate goal of all landscaping—is best achieved in small gardens with fewer varieties of plant material. He should not aim to try one of everything; but should substitute quality for quantity.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests, however, that both uniformity and variety are possible with the use of such shrubs as Camellias which look alike in foliage, but differ in bloom according to variety.

Liberal use of dwarf conifers such as the spreading Junipers can be made to achieve uniformity and modesty. Dwarf Citrus and such compact shrubs as the India Hawthornes should also find their way into the permanent framework from which the small garden evolves. There are many, many more.

Symphony Guild Committee Plans Ticket Campaign

A local committee of the Oakland Symphony Guild is being organized to push the season ticket campaign. The goal of the group is a sold-out house for the symphony season opening Wednesday with Paul Badura-Skoda as guest pianist.

Organizing the Orinda group is Mrs. William Kanes, with the help of Mrs. Adele Harlan, Mrs. Dale Hill, Mrs. William Billings and Mrs. Ernest Silva. Coordinating the other groups in Berkeley, Piedmont, Walnut Creek and Richmond and neighborhoods in Oakland are Mrs. John Vetterli and Mrs. Ray Slingluff of Richmond.

The area groups, mainly concerned with the season ticket sale until after the October date, then will turn their attention to the fashion show set for November 10 and television auditions to choose a soloist for a spring concert of the Oakland Symphony Ball.

Morning coffee parties are also planned by the local committee to acquaint people in the area with the series of world-famous soloists who will appear with the Oakland Symphony Orchestra this season.

Representing other communities on the area coordinating committee, chaired by Mrs. Vetterli and Mrs. Slingluff, are Mesdames T. M. Price, Donald Breed, A. R. Rick, Carl Warnecke, Gilbert Hain, S. A. Soderstrand, Lyle Cope.

Poor Soil Management Takes Joy From Garden

Probably no single facet of home gardening is less understood than proper soil management. Poor soil takes the joy out of gardening in a hurry. You plant a healthy young shrub and watch it go nowhere fast.

The error most commonly made by a novice gardener is to think that he can go on forever growing plants in the same soil. He fails to realize that most growing things reduce the richness of the soil by the amount of nutrients they need to grow.

THEN THERE'S the person who, while he knows the need for feeding, neglects the soil's need for humus. Despite added food, the soil produces less and less as it becomes more and more deficient in vegetable matter and therefore compact.

The California Association of Nurserymen tells us that the matter of humus should logically come first. Humus is a leavening agent that opens the soil to receive both food and water; and without it, feeding does little good.

Manures are humus building materials, as are peat moss, leaf mold and sawdust, though the latter should be handled with care since it often robs the soil of nitrogen as it breaks down during decay.

Peat and manure and what compost he can make himself are the gardener's best tools for building humus. Work these liberally into garden beds before you start fall feeding.

FALL FEEDING itself should be done with slow acting fertilizers. Too strong a shot in the arm will induce new growth at a time most plants should be getting ready for a winter nap.

Manures worked in as humus will provide a minor source of food for plants. An added mulch of steer manure over garden beds will add more. Bonemeal is one of the best fertilizers for fall. Worked in before the rains come, it will yield a slow but steady kick over several months.

There are other minor problems that a few simple steps will correct. C.A.N. members are ready with the answers any time you are ready to inquire. Why wait?

Candidates Will Spout at Sun Night Nov. 2 at 8 p.m.

It will be Come One, Come All to hear the tumult and shouting and participate in the fun and information at the Annual Sun Candidates Night to be held at Acalanes High School Wednesday, November 2 at 8 p.m.

Local partisan candidates will be on hand to express their hopes, clarify their records and take a stand on the issues.

Included will be Congressman John Baldwin and Douglas Page, his opponent; State Senator George Miller and his opponent, King Parker Jr. and State Assemblyman Jerome Waldie and his opponent, George Krueger.

THE POLITICIANS will speak on their program as it pertains to the office they hold, or to which they aspire, and there will be plenty of time for questions and answers.

As has been the practice in the past, a representative of the Mt. Diablo Toastmasters Club will be present with lights and buzzer to assure that no candidate gets carried away and exceeds his alloted time at the microphone.

Members of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce will be in the aisles to collect written questions which will be presented to the candidate for an immediate answer.

As far as can be ascertained at this moment, the only two candidates who will not be present to answer questions personally are Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator Jack Kennedy, campaign in another part of the country.

MODERATOR will be Sun Publisher Herman Silverman.

Candidate's Night Should Be Exciting

Candidates Night" will be held November 2 at Acalanes High School, under the sponsorship of the Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun, Lafayette Sun and Pleasant Hill Sun.

Assembled on the "eve" of the elections will be the candidates for U.S. Congress, State Assembly and State Senate.

The public will hear their present or future representatives in Washington, D. C., and Sacramento debate the crucial questions concerning their office.

Read The Sun for details of the "Candidates Night," which has become a traditional public service provided by The Sun.

Nejedly To Take Role of College President

District Attorney John Nejedly has a new assignment.

He has been given the part of "Merrill," a college president, in the production "Goodbye My Fancy," which will be presented by the Concord Little Theater.

Other area residents who have been given parts are Jeri Henson of 272 Nancy Lane, Pleasant Hill, Agatha; Doris Raines of 2950 Del Hombre Lane, Walnut Creek, Shackleford; Jackie Lewis of 3065 North Main Street, Walnut Creek, Jo; John O'Donnell of 248 Nancy Lane, Pleasant Hill, Pitt.

The group held a "get acquainted" party last Saturday evening at the home of Bob Coslett of 1400 Barbis Way, Concord.

"Goodby My Fancy" will be presented probably late in November, but exact time and place have not been set.

'Forgiveness' Not a Virtue– Collier Bill

Amounts "forgiven" by the state in repayment of loans for school construction in Contra Costa County dropped sharply this year because of the Collier Bill.

Assistant County Superintendent Harold DeFraga said that the total amount which school districts will not have to pay back this year is only $215,763 compared to more than $1,000,000 "forgiven" last year.

Under a state proviso, any amount of state loan repayment which would require a bond tax rate in excess of 45 cents for a given year is deferred.

The bond tax rate covers both retirement of local bonds and state loan repayment.

The Collier Bill ties loan repayments, as well as state equalizatqion apportionments, to an adjusted assessed valuation, representing the ratio of the county assessment rate to the average rate for all counties of California.

This had the effect of increasing Contra Costa County's assessed valuation eight per cent for 1960-61 and reducing state assistance accordingly.

The Collier Bill allows an override tax to offset the loss of funds in state equalization but provides none for the loan repayment, thus decreasing the income of the school district.

DeFraga described this as a further hardship on the districts which are already in financial straits because their enrollment has outrun their assessed valuation.

Mt. Diablo Unified, for instance, had $608,202 of its state loan repayment deferred last year but only $68,820 this year.

Other deferments for 1960-61 were:

Alamo, $1640; Danville Union, $1439; Lafayette, $12,350; Pinole-Hercules Union, $19,680; San Pablo, $20,983; Sheldon, $5722; and Walnut Creek, $86,368.

Fay Thomas Is Made Assistant Vice President

First Western Bank and Trust Company has appointed Fay C. Thomas assistant vice president at its San Francisco administrative offices, according to Mont E. McMillen, president.

Thomas joined First Western in March, 1955, after 12 years of California banking experience. He was named an assistant cashier in August, 1958, and then transferred to the cashier's department last February.

A native of Malad, Idaho, he served with the U.S. Navy during World War II. He resides at 3568 Silver Springs Road, Lafayette, with his wife Irene, and daughter Diane.

"MEET A DOLL." Paul Fekte says to his dog, Raisin. Dollies, Inc., prepares for a bigger and better Christmas than ever for little girls from needy families in the area. Collections will begin soon of used dolls to be rehabilitated. Decorated barrels to receive the dolls are being placed in various depots now.

Needle in Haystack Is Fascinating Fun!

Needle in the haystack, one of the key attractions of the Broadway Birthday party, is one of the most fascinating and rewarding games ever to be brought to the central county area, according to George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

The game is fun and it's easy to play, Webster explained.

Here's how it works:

Thousands of dulled needles will be placed in a haystack. Any person who pulls out a needle, which changes color when it is dipped into a special solution, wins a prize and there will be a prize a minute, Webster added.

The top prize will be a stereophonic console and there will be thousands of other fine prizes, Webster commented.

After the person with the needle, which has changed color, steps over to the Broadway Board of Gifts, they dip into the treasure chest and pull out a sealed envelope.

"In it will be instructions indicating the prize and what store it is in," Webster noted.

"It's easy and fun, tickets to participate in the Broadway Needle in the Haystack are available at all participating stores.

"Don't forget tickets will be available all during the Broadway Birthday celebration.

The needle in a haystack event will be in full swing October 21 and 22," Webster concluded.

Free Cake, Drinks at Birthday

Refreshments, all free of charge, will be served during the Broadway Shopping Center's Birthday Party today.

Three locations will be serving delicious birthday cake, coffee and chocolate milk from 7 until 9 p.m.

In addition to the three locations serving refreshments, there will be the music of the famous Guckenheimer Sourkraut German Band.

The refreshments will be served in front of the Lucky Food Store in front of Anita Shop and in front of the Broadway Pharmacy.

Dollies Inc. Asks for Dolls And Help in Dressing Them

Dollies, Inc., struck a double bonanza during the past month, and is now looking forward to a bigger and better Christmas than ever for little girls from needy families in this area. That is, with community support continued as during the past five years. Three hundred dolls distributed this year will push the organization over the 1000 mark in donations.

The Dollies, Inc., jackpot was a generous check from the Lafayette Lions Club (before, Dollies never had it so good) and a pleasant, spacious central workshop given by a charming senior citizen from Walnut Creek, Mrs. Ruth Gordon, 1929 Shuey Avenue. Mrs. Gordon has had a lifelong interest in dolls and even holds a doll patent.

THE DOLLS held over from late 1959 are rehabilitated now and many are in the hands of seamstresses for new wardrobes. Since the muu-muu is "de rigueur" this year, patterns for same will be distributed to anyone who will lend a hand dressing dolls.

Besides new helpers and many more dolls (baby doll and larger types mostly) the following materials are needed from well-wishers: Laces, embroideries, ribbon, taffeta, tulle, cotton flannel, fur, beads and jewelry bits; two folding bridge tables, and a usable sewing machine. treadle or electric.

SOME CAMPFIRE Girl and Girl Scout groups will participate in collecting used dolls soon. In addition to Mrs. Gordon's home, decorated barrels to receive used dolls are being placed at the following depots: Loards Creamery, Orinda; Lewis & Lewis carpets, 3406 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette; Pleasant Hill Baptist Church; and Volunteer Bureau, 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

"Please help, folks, and SOON, to avoid big tears from little girls this Christmas. The ladies gotta' have time for diminutive sewing projects."

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Norman Perlmutter, YE 4-3138, and Mrs. John Lavallee, AT 3-3816.

Lots of Parking In Broadway; And It's Handy

"You never need to worry about parking in the Broadway Shopping Center, said George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

"Broadway Merchants have been careful to see that there is plenty of parking space, and this includes the big lot behind Capwells, and sizeable lots next to Lucky Store, behind Penney's and south of the Broadway Pharmacy.

"There are more than 2000 stalls, and you can find a place near where you plan to shop," he said.

"Peak hour parking is never a problem, either. When one area fills up, there are the others to choose from."

Calendula and Pansies Are Sure Fire for Winter

Winter weather—even in California—is enough to discourage most annuals. But you'll find a hearty handful that seem to thrive on it. Plant them now and you'll have some color right through the winter months.

Surest bet for a bright splash is calendula. There is an old fashioned quality about these bright "pot marigolds" that endears them to most gardeners. You can plant them right through the year, but, given sun, they are really better in the cooler months of fall, winter and spring.

PANSIES and violas are also sure-fire. The California Association of Nurserymen lists these two as the all-time favorites for cool season color. Their requirements are for loose, rich soil, as from leaf mold and peat moss, with perfect drainage. Avoid planting them, therefore, when winter rains don't run off.

This latter rule applies equally to winter stock, since permanent wet feet will do them in faster than any other hazard. Given drainage and a sunny bed, stocks will give the maximum of color in return. Waste no time in planting them, since they want all the growing weather they can get before the first cold snap comes.

SNAPDRAGONS, too, require a stretch of favorable weather in fall to reach bloom stage before winter sets in. Given such a break, they will bloom through the cool months. Lacking it, however, they still benefit from fall planting since the added growth really has them off and running at the first sign of spring. They will be bigger and better than spring planted snaps.

In moderate, coastal California, cineraria can be counted on for winter, and while we think of it, cyclamen can, too. It's not an annual by any means, but C.A.N. nurserymen offer it by the flat. If your climate will handle cyclamen, plant it without fail. Where weather does not permit, start now with a few pots in full bloom. Keep them outside until cold nights set in, and then bring them in to keep you company indoors. They'll brighten your winter window.

Real Estate Sales Rising, Records Show

Some $2,800,000 in home and real estate sales were credited to members of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board during September.

This compares to almost $2 millions for the same month last year.

The total sales this year so far is more than $24 millions, compared to $19 millions for the same period last year.

Refresh Yourself For Free!

You will be "refreshed" without charge during Broadway Shopping Center's Birthday Party, today, according to George Webster, Broadway Merchants Association chairman.

Birthday cake, coffee and chocolate milk will be served from 7 to 9 p.m. at three locations—in front of Lucky Store, Anita Shop and Broadway Pharmacy.

And you will be seranaded simultaneously—bf the famed Guckenheimer Sauerkraut German Band.

Music Teachers Association Begins Program

The Contra Costa Branch of the California Music Teachers' Association began another year of activities last week.

Monthly meetings will feature guest artists and recognize member's growth.

MTA will also continue its monthly discussion groups on teaching methods. Workshops, featuring performances of outstanding students, are also held monthly.

THE CONTRA Costa Branch has a membership of about 40 active, associate and contributory members from Walnut Creek, Concord, Pleasant Hill, Danville, Orinda and Berkeley.

The active members have met rigorous requirements set by the state organization.

Associate members are working toward active membership by taking music courses in theory and pedagogy, while contributory ones are persons interested in supporting the organization.

EACH YEAR, the group offers a musical scholarship to a promising student in the area. Money for the scholarship is raised by a spring concert in which members participate.

Regular meetings, which are open to the public, are held the fourth Tuesday of every month in the west room of Diablo Valley College.

Discussion groups for members are informal sessions at the Pleasant Hill Nut Bowl, held the third Wednesday of each month.

Advanced student performances are presented on Sunday afternoons in the Stanley School Auditorium, Lafayette, with families and friends attending.

THE FIRST meeting of the 1960-61 year will be a social evening Tuesday at the home of member Doris Marliave, 67 Grandview Place, Walnut Creek.

President Itala Gambino of Pleasant Hill will introduce the officers and the chairmen of activities will report.

Officers of the Music Teachers Association are President Itala Gambino of Pleasant Hill, Vice President Virginia Daniels of Walnut Creek, Corresponding Secretary Frederick Freeman of Walnut Creek and Recording Secretary Inerz Barr of Walnut Creek.

Chairmen of standing committees are as follows:

CALIFORNIA Plan, Florence Robinson of Martinez; Certificate of Merit, Shelia Hill of Orinda; Workshops, Margaret Winters of Orinda, Madalene Caruso of Pittsburg, Doris Marliave of Walnut Creek.

Scholarship Benefit Concert, Clara Floyd of Walnut Creek; Membership, Lois Lynn Hardy of Danville; Publicity, Polly Grover of Walnut Creek, Alice Keller of Pleasant Hill; Social, Rosalyn Pollycove of Walnut Creek; Historian, Edith Marshall of Walnut Creek.

Music teachers in the area interested in joining MTA should contact Mrs. Hardy.

Home, School Relationships Will Be Discussed at Conference

An all-school conference to explore the areas in which schools and parents can co-operate will be held by Del Valle Council of Parent-Teacher Associations October 25 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Walnut Creek.

"Working together because we care" is the theme.

Discussion groups ask how co-operation can best be accomplished between home and school for the benefit of all children.

All PTA's, other parent groups and school administrators in San Ramon, Danville, Alamo, Walnut Creek, Orinda, Canyon, Moraga and Lafayette will be invited to attend.

Mrs. William Brumfield of the Del Valle Council will preside.

Chairman of the Administrator's Conference is Glenn Max, Murwood School principal, assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Ulrich, Council parent-teacher information course chairman.

Committee members include Martin Tucker, curriculum consultant for Lafayette School District; Roger Schulte, superintendant of San Ramon Union High School District; Allen Bartlett, principal of Indian Valley School, Walnut Creek.

Richard Keefe, principal of Charlotte Wood School, Danville; Mrs. R. J. Hansen, Council education chairman and Mrs. Jack Caven, Council first vice president.

Physical Education Is Reviewed

Physical education courses as they are and as they might be were described by Dr. William W. Harkness of San Francisco State College last year at College Park High School, Pleasant Hill.

He spoke at a meeting of the Contra Costa County Unit, California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Dr. Harkness is state president.

Subject was "Let's Take a Look at Ourselves"—wide experience as a physical education instructor at elementary, high school and junior college levels.

A star athlete as an undergraduate at the state colleye, Dr. Harkness has coached football, basketball, track and other sports.

He now combines coaching duties with administration of the intramural activities program of San Francisco State College.

He received his doctor of education degree at Stanford University in 1957.

Mrs. Jeanne D. Duerksen of Las Lomas High School, county unit president, conducted the dinner meeting.

Broadway Shops Open 2 Nights

Stores in the Broadway Shopping Center are open two nights a week every week, according to George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

Stores in the center are open on Monday and Friday nights so that the whole family will have plenty of time to go shopping, Webster added.

Parents of MR Children To Meet

Parents of mentally retarded children enrolled in the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church's special classes will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the church parlor. The church is located on Oakland Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

Also invited are any persons interested in learning about the inter-denominational classes.

The classes meet Sundays from 8:45 to 10:15 a.m., enabling parents to attend the church of their choice while the children are in class, and Tuesdays from 1 o'clock to 2:15 p.m.

Both clases are open to all ages and a Sunday school curriculum adapted to the special needs of the children is taught. The Sunday class is opened with a worship service, after which the children separate into small groups.

The program includes some first grade material and the life of Christ. The children are offered love and acceptance, according to Mrs. Alan W. Young, superintendent of the Point 1 and Point 2 programs.

"We feel there is a need for more inter-denominational programs of this type," Mrs. Young added.

Further information may be obtained by calling her at YE 5-5243, or Mrs. Ralph Peters, AT 3-3135.

Administrators' CD Committee Holds Meeting

The Contra Costa County School Administrators' Civil Defense Committee held its first meeting of the school year on October 4 at the Diablo Valley College.

William Flynn, chairman and principal of the Walnut Creek Parkmead Lower School, presided.

Discussed were such topics as the planning, up-dating and testing of school walk-home dispersal plans and evacuation plans; the possibilities of building fallout shelter protection into existing school buildings, incorporating shelter into new construction; the observance in the schools of Civil Defense Day, December 7; and plans for future meetings.

A Resources Committee to assist any school with questions regarding CD plans was appointed by Flynn.

Members are Charles Ferrell of the County Schools Department, Gordon Gibson, CD coordinator for the Acalanes School District, and Flynn.

School districts represented at the meeting were Mt. Diablo, Rodeo, Contra Costa Junior College, Martinez, Pinole-Hercules, Antiouch, Acalanes, Orinda, Danville, San Ramon Valley Union High School.

Walnut Creek, Moraga, St. Catherine's, Martinez and the county superintendent of schools department, the Concord CD, and the County Disaster Office.

The next meeting will be a luncheon meeting on November 23 in the Walnut Creek Elementary School District. Time and place will be announced later.

Mental Illness 'Shop' To Inform Public, Oct. 13

A workshop with the theme of "How You Can Help the Mentally Ill" was sponsored by the Central County Mental Health Association, yesterday at 7:45 to 10 p.m. at the Pleasant Hill Elementary School multi-use room.

Co-sponsoring agencies are the Contra Costa Health and Social Service Departments, Rehabilitation Council, State Department of Mental Hygiene.

Resources are made possible through the Short-Doyle Bill, services available from the County Health and Social Services Departments and the recently formed Rehabilitation Project.

After a general session, small discussion groups heard experts on specific questions.

The closing period will be used for each group to summarize their findings.

Committee members include Carroll W. Boyd, County Social Service; Mrs. Bel Paul, County Health and Short-Doyle Services; Mrs. Eleanor Kunitz, project director for Rehabilitation Project.

Miss Jeanne Olander, State Department of Mental Hygiene; Mrs. Susan Miller, Lamplighters; Mrs. Robert Love, 32nd District PTA, director of Parent and Family Life Education.

Dr. Jack Little, Psychologist of Walnut Creek and Oakland; Mrs. Gilbert Mead, vice president Mental Health Association; Mrs. Thomas Mackenzie, executive director, Mental Health Association.

This meeting was open to the public.
